Samuel Betsy Samuel Davis
Aaron and Moses.
MRS. AARON BURNHAM
Endured an agonizing sickness without a murmur, and closed a well spent life April 25, 1814;
Aged 59.
Remembrance shall her story tell,
Affection of her virtues speak;
With beaming eye and burning cheek;
Each action word and look recall,
The last the loveliest of all.
When on the lap of death she lay Sereneely smitted her Soul away,
And left surviving friendships breast
Warm with the sunset of her rest.

Samuel died Aug. 29, 1788;
Aged 21 days.
Betsy died May 30, 1792;
Aged 8 months & 5 days.
Samuel Davis died Dec. 14, 1795;

Aged 23 years.

All more than common Menaces an end
A blaze betokens brevity of life.

Moses died at Plymouth England
Oct. 1812; Aged 26 years.
Death oppressed thee far from home;
An helpless stranger no familiar voice,
No pitying eye, cheered thy last pangs.

REV. OLIVER PEABODY.

In 1646, the general court passed an act to encourage attempts to win the Indians within the territory of the colony to christianity. Rev. John Eliot, then pastor of the church in Roxbury, entered heartily into the matter, and became immediately a missionary to the aborigines. He was then forty-one years of age.

He preached to the Indians first at Nonantum, a part of Newton, but he soon found the place too near the white men, some of whom exerted a pernicious influence upon them.

In 1650, with the sanction of the general court, Mr. Eliot secured a grant of six thousand acres of land from the town of Dedham to the praying Indians, as they were called, and the next year the grantees removed to the new location, which subsequently became the town of Natick, the place occupied by the Indians being what is now South Natick. One public building was constructed for a schoolhouse, meeting-house, etc., and an apartment for Mr. Eliot.

He learned the language of the natives, and translated the entire Bible into their tongue. The New Testament was published in 1661, and the Old Testament subsequently. He has ever since been known as "The Apostle to the Indians." He died in 1690, at the age of eighty-six.

"Since the death of Paul," said Edward Everett, "a nobler, truer, and warmer spirit than John Eliot never lived. And taking the state of the country, the narrowness of the means, the rudeness of the age, into consideration, the history of the Christian church does not contain an example of resolute, untiring, successful labor, superior to that of translating the entire scriptures into the language of the native tribes of Massachusetts."

The severe treatment of the Indians by the colonial authorities, especially during King Philip's war, caused them to distrust the white men, though their faith in Eliot never waned.

The successor of Mr. Eliot as pastor was one of themselves, Daniel Tahawampait; but a white man's leadership and example were lacking, and the church grew smaller and smaller until its organization failed.

The Board of Commissioners for Propagating the Gospel in New England was anxious to revive the work that under the ministrations of Eliot had been productive of so much good. But it was difficult to secure a person fit to undertake the task. Eleven candidates had declined the mission. The reason was that the French were stirring up the Indians to commence hostilities against the English, and a war was imminent. The twelfth man, Oliver Peabody, of Boxford, accepted.

He was son of William and Hannah (Hale) Peabody, and was born in Boxford May 7, 1698. The house in which he was born stood a few yards from the present residence of Rev. Albert B. Peabody in the eastern part of the town. His father died when Oliver was less than two years old, he being the youngest of eight children. His mother reared him righteously, and he grew up pure minded and zealous to be a man of worth and to accomplish something. But his knowledge of the world was meagre; and in the forest around his early home, with the companionship of a true and devoted mother and excellent elder brothers and sisters, he grew into a thoughtful, earnest young man. What suggestions of strength and opportunity are found, what longings are discovered and developed among the hills, streams and forests!

Oliver's uncle, John Peabody, was the first schoolmaster of the town, and the succeeding masters lived in the neighborhood. From his mother and these teachers he must have received the instruction sufficient to enable him to enter Harvard college, from which he graduated in 1721, six years having elapsed apparently between his matriculation and graduation. He was the first college graduate of the Peabody family and the town of Boxford.
He accepted the invitation of the Board of Commissioners for Propagating the Gospel in New England to become a missionary among the aborigines, not knowing to how dangerous a place nor how far he would be sent. His field was the wilderness. He was ordained a missionary to the Indians, and was immediately sent to Natick to revive the work of Eliot that had so deteriorated since his death. He preached at Natick for the first time Aug. 6, 1721, when there were but two white families in the town.

After preaching there for eight years, in 1729, a church was gathered, consisting of three Indians and five whites, and he was formally ordained its pastor. Twenty-two persons were added to the church the first year.

He not only preached the gospel, but led the Indians to abandon savage modes of living, to make improvements in husbandry, to turn from drunkenness to sobriety, to cultivate good manners, and to read and write as well as to speak and understand the English language. He lived to see many of the aboriginal families enjoying comfortable homes, cultivated fields and flourishing orchards. He ever sought their best good.

Though naturally of a slender and delicate constitution, he went on a mission to the Mohegan tribe of Indians, but the fatigues he endured so impaired his health that it was never fully restored. He lived several years after, but at length fell into a decline.

During his ministry one hundred and ninety-one Indians and four hundred and twenty-two English were baptized. Thirty-five Indians and one hundred and thirty whites were admitted to his church.

In his last sickness the Indians expressed great anxiety for his health and happiness, and tendered him every service within their power. After his death sweetest memories of him remained in their minds, and they mourned for him as for a father. He fell asleep in the faith of Christ, on Sunday, Feb. 2, 1752, at the age of fifty-three, immediately after repeating the words, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will give me in that day."

A monument, erected to the memory of Mr. Peabody at South Natick, bears a Latin inscription, an English translation of which is as follows:

"Here are deposited the remains of the venerable OLIVER PEABODY, a man venerable for the faculties of his mind and for all needful learning. He delighted much in theological investigations. He discharged the pastoral office with great renown for thirty years;—ministering to the people of Natick, especially to the aborigines, in the cause of sacred learning. He was a model in social life. In benevolence and universality, he was pre-eminent. In the firm expectation of a future retribution, he was called from his ministry on the 2d of February, A. D. 1752, aged 54 years."

Two printed sermons of Mr. Peabody are extant, one being "An Artillery Election Sermon," and the other entitled, "The Foundations, Effects, and distinguishing Properties of a good and bad hope of Salvation, with Motives to excite all to labor and pray, that they may obtain a well-grounded hope, and some directions how to obtain it. Considered in a sermon, the substance of which was delivered at the evening lecture at the new North Church in Boston on Tuesday June 8, 1742."

Mr. Peabody married Hannah, daughter of Rev. Joseph Baxter of Medfield, a lady distinguished for her piety and good sense. She married, after Mr. Peabody's death, Dea. John Eliot of Boston Nov. 2, 1769. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Peabody were as follows: 1. Catharine, born Feb. 27, 1723-4; died, unmarried, in Boxford Sept. 17, 1802; 2. Oliver, born Jan. 15, 1725-6; graduated at Harvard college in 1745; ordained pastor of the First church in Roxbury Nov. 7, 1750; and died, unmarried, May 29, 1752, at the age of twenty-six; 3. William, born Feb. 20, 1727-8; died, unmarried.

*II Timothy iv: 7, 8.
Of childhood, age, of happiness and tears,
Within, what tales those
The shattered window-panes, the door-stone low,—
If they could break their silence' mighty spell,—
All tell the
The loosened clapboards, where the winds
And years have
The moss-grown shingles, broken and decayed
Its general air speaks of Where several highways socially clasp hands;
Its general air speaks of the 'auld lang syne,'
And years have left their marks in many a line.
The moss-grown shingles, broken and decayed;
The loosened clapboards, where the winds have played;
The shattered window-panes, the door-stone low,—
All tell the story of the long ago.
Within, what tales those mouldering walls could tell,
If they could break their silence' mighty spell,—
Of childhood, age, of happiness and tears,
Of life and death through all these hundred years!

Two antique portraits, older than we know,— Perchance were old a century ago,— Hang in the upper hall; faint shadows they
Of faces long since passed from earth away.

One of the ancient portraits mentioned in the above lines is that of an oil painting of Rev. Oliver Peabody, having been painted about 1730. The picture is about a yard square. It descended with the title of the house from Mrs. Holyoke to her daughter Hannah, who lived here and died, unmarried, in 1865. The portrait continued to hang in the upper hall, and when the estate passed to Mr. French the painting was permitted to remain. There it hangs today as it has hung for nearly a century and a half.

The painting is valuable aside from being the portrait of Rev. Oliver Peabody. It is the picture of the earliest Peabody and the earliest Boxford person that exists to-day; and reveals in a pleasing manner the character, culture and attractiveness of the man. It also shows the style of dress of that period better and more completely than any old painting known to the writer.

The frontispiece of this number of the Antiquarian is from a photograph of the portrait.

BLANCHARD GENEALOGY.

Thomas Blanchard, the ancestor of the principal Blanchard family in New England, probably came from Andover, England. He sailed in the ship Jonathan of London, from London to Boston, in 1639, with his children, his wife, and her mother and the latter's niece. His children and his wife and her mother were sick on the voyage, and his wife died on the ship. Her mother lived until the ship came to anchor in Boston harbor, when she died. The following deposition is very interesting in this connection:

"The testimonys of vs Inhabitants now of New-burie whose names are here ynder written, who about thirteene yeares past came over in a ship called the Jonathan of London with Thomas Blanchard now of Charlestowne, at what time his wife dying in the ship hee was conceived to be very poore and in greate necessity by reason of his wifes and his childrens sickehe, that the passengers made a gathering for him in the shippe to helpe to put his child to nurse his wifes mother also being sicke all the while wee were at sea and wee knew no other man that looked to her but Thomas Blanchard, but there was a maide which was her neece tended her

"Further Anthony Somerby testityes that about the time the ship came to Anchor in Boston Harbor the woman his mother in law dyed, and Thomas Blanchard procured to carry her to shore to be buryed, I know no other man that was about it but hee

"Further Nicholas Noyes testifyes that old Goody Bent came vp from Andover to London in a waggion with the carriages, and Thomas Blanchard took care of her and her goods from Andover to the shippe and she was with Thomas Blanchards family about a month at London, and that there was a gathering among christians in england to help him overt.

BY SIDNEY PERLEY.

The map on page 38 represents that part of Salem which is bounded by Essex street, Washington Square West, Forrester street or Washington Square, and Washington Square East. It is based on actual surveys and title deeds, and is drawn on a scale of two hundred feet to an inch. It shows the location of all houses that were standing there in 1700.

Essex street was called the common or highway in 1669; ye highway or street, 1675; ye high or main street, 1695; ye main street, 1699; Salem main street, 1706; and Essex street, 1794.

Washington Square West was reserved for a way in or before 1673, and was called a way in 1734. It was for many years called Newbury street. For a few years past it has been known as Washington Square West.

Forrester street was laid out before 1787, when its location was called "the common or a way." It was named by vote of the selectmen Bath street July 5, 1802; and Forrester street in 1856.

Washington Square East was an old way into the swamp from the main street. It was called Thomas Beadle's lane in 1700; Ives lane, 1753; Pleasant street, 1800; and for several years has been known as Washington Square East.

Washington Square has always been public land. For many years in the early settlement of the town this was the pen, or common pen, where the cows of the neighborhood were gathered preparatory to the cowherd taking them to the neck for the day. At a meeting of the proprietors of lands lying in common within the town of Salem, Nov. 16, 1713, it was "Voated That the Comon Lands where the Trainings are Generally Kept In the Town nigh and before Mr Nathaniell Higginsons Dwelling bee and remaines as Itt now layes to Continue for Euer for A Training feild for the vfe of said Town of Salem

"Voated That all the Highways and Burying Places and Comon Lands lying within the Town Bridge and the Block houfes be And Remaine for Euer for the vfe of the Town of Salem."*

This remained a training field during the rest of that century. It was ye common land called ye pen in 1669; ye common land, 1676; the Salem common, 1699; ye common, 1701; Salem common or training field, 1724; the town common or training field, 1727; the training field, 1754; and the common training field, 1791.

A large part of this area was swamp land with ponds and hills; on the map the shape and location of two of the ponds are given as found on an old map, but the exact location and size of the three small ponds is unknown. In 1802, by private subscription, the hills were levelled, the gravel being used in filling the ponds and swamps, substantially as it is at present. It was named Washington Square by vote of the selectmen July 5, 1802; and has since been so called.

The range of house lots shown on the map was a part of the common until they were granted to various parties hereafter named, between the years 1660 and 1670.

In the sketches that follow, after 1700, titles and deeds referred to pertain to the houses and land adjoining and not always to the whole lot, the design being, after that date, to give the history of the houses then standing principally.

John Higginson House. This lot was granted to John Higginson at a meeting of the town held Dec. 4, 1673, the record being as follows: "vpon Jnº Higginsons Jun's Request to the towne to sell him a peece of Land next to goodman Rumball: It is voted that Leaving the way four Rod wide att the front and soe wide In the Reare as the ground will give Leaving for him ther 3 Rods In Breadth: that he Shal have It home to goodman Rumballs fence he payeng for It after the same Rate or proportion that other men have paid for their Lots further downward and that the Select men are to Lay It out.” Mr. Higginson immediately erected a dwelling house upon the lot, which has ever since been precisely the same lot as that now occupied by the Franklin building. Colonel Higginson lived in this house, which was elegant for the time; and died possessed of it March 23, 1719-20, at the age of seventy-three.

In his will, he dewised the estate to his son Nathaniel Higginson for his life, and then to go to Nathaniel’s children. Nathaniel died in 1720, leaving three children, Mary, wife of Capt. Nathaniel Andrew of Salem, mariner, Hannah Higginson, and Elizabeth, wife of Obadiah Mors of Boston, goldsmith. Hannah Higginson lived in Salem, and, for one hundred and sixty pounds, conveyed her interest in the estate to her brother-in-law Captain Andrew May 7, 1734.* Mrs. Mors and her husband, for one hundred and sixty pounds, conveyed her interest in the estate to Captain Andrew Oct. 14, 1735.† Captain Andrew died Feb. 4, 1762, having devised the house “I now dwell in” and barn to his son John Andrew. The estate was then valued at five hundred and thirty-three pounds, six shillings and eight pence. In the house were then mentioned the western lower room, kitchen, kitchen chamber, western chamber, easternmost chamber best room, garret, cellar, front closet, and “bofet closet.” John Andrew was a goldsmith, and lived in this house until Dec. 4, 1784, when, for three hundred pounds, he conveyed the estate to John Gardner of Salem, merchant.‡ Mr. Gardner removed to Danvers, and, for seven thousand, seven hundred and eighty-five dollars, conveyed “the old mansion house” and all other old buildings and the lot to Samuel Archer, 3d, of Salem May 22, 1809.* Mr. Archer immediately removed the old house and erected on its site the first Franklin building, which he built of brick.

John Rogers House. This lot was granted by the town to Daniel Rumball of Salem, blacksmith, in consideration of his conveying to the use of Rev. John Higginson a lot on the north side of the common near what is now Williams street. This was the first lot granted in this row of house lots. At a town meeting, held April 30, 1660, it was “voted that Goodman Rumble shalle haue a peece of ground In the penn wheare it may be Leaft preuidife to the towne in Lew of the ground hee spared to build vppon a a houfe for mr Higgeffon : foot for foot: to be Layed owt by the select men.” For thirty pounds, he conveyed the lot to John Rogers of Salem, glazier, Oct. 30, 1675.† Mr. Rogers built a house upon the lot probably immediately after his purchase, and conveyed both house and lot, being his homestead, to his niece Rebecca Putnam, providing that she should live with him as a nurse to him, Aug. 16, 1715.† Mr. Rogers’ wife had died the year previous, and he died Nov. 30, 1715, aged sixty-eight. Miss Putnam married Rev. Daniel Putnam of Reading in 1719; and, for one hundred and ten pounds, they conveyed the house and land around it to Jonathan Very of Salem, cordwainer, June 23, 1724.§ Deacon Very lived in the house, and died possessed of it in 1768, his will, dated March 24, 1764, being proved Jan. 2, 1769. He devised his real estate to his children, Jonathan Very, Abigail Very, Mary Symonds, Elizabeth Cheever, Martha Pitman, and Bethiah Archer, and grand children, Joseph Pratt, Susannah Pratt and William Cook.

house, barn and land around them were then appraised at two hundred and fifty-three pounds, six shillings, and eight pence. Joseph Pratt, mariner, and widow Susannah Pratt, both of Salem, for thirty-three pounds, conveyed their interest in the mansion house and land of their grandfather Jonathan Very to George Peele of Salem, trader, Dec. 23, 1791.† John Pitman, jr., and Thomas Pitman, both of Salem, mariners, two of the grandchildren of Jonathan Very, and the guardian of William Pitman, another grandson, for twelve pounds and twelve shillings, conveyed their interest to Mr. Peele Dec. 23, 1791.† Jonathan Very of Salem, truckman, the son of the deceased, for thirty pounds, conveyed his interest in the estate to Mr. Peele July 2, 1793.† Joshua Pitman, housewright, Benjamin Reed, mariner, and wife Martha in her right, Jonathan Morong, mariner, and wife Mary, in her right, all of Salem, grandchildren of Jonathan Very, for ten pounds and sixteen shillings, conveyed their interest in the estate to William Ball of Salem, cordwainer, Sept. 17, 1787.§ William Cook, mariner, and Mary Cheever, spinster, both of Salem, grandchildren of Jonathan Very, for twenty pounds, conveyed their interest to Mr. Ball Sept. 22, 1787.¶ James Archer, cordwainer, and wife Elizabeth, in her right, Elisha Gunnison, mariner, and wife Mary, in her right, all of Salem, grandchildren of Jonathan Very, for eight pounds and twelve shillings, conveyed their interest to Mr. Ball March 27, 1788.¶ Daniel Needham of Salem, mariner, and wife Mary, in her right, granddaughter of Jonathan Very, for four pounds and nineteen shillings, conveyed her interest to Mr. Ball Sept. 4, 1792. Joseph Symonds, housewright; James Symonds, fisherman, Mar- garet Symonds, spinster, and Jonathan Archer, husbandman, all of Salem, grandchildren of Jonathan Very, for seventeen pounds, five shillings and eight pence, conveyed their interest to Mr. Ball March 30, 1793.† Bethiah Archer of Salem, spinster, and William Millet, mariner, and wife Sarah, in her right, grandchildren of Jonathan Very, for fifty dollars, conveyed their interest in the estate to Mr. Ball Feb. 25, 1796.† A partition of the estate was made in court Nov. 27, 1793, between George Peele and William Ball, and the house and land around it were assigned to Mr. Ball;† and he apparently removed the old house before 1801.

Robert Woodberry Lot. This lot was granted by the town to Manasseh Marston of Salem, blacksmith, in town meeting, 7: 8 mo: 1665; and the record reads as follows: "voated that manasses maston shall haue the same quantitie of land at the eft end of Goodman Rumbís lott in the pen: paying as others did for thires in the same Rang: once in two yeares." Mr. Marston conveyed the lot to Robert Wilkes of Salem, ship-carpenter, July 29, 1669.† Mr. Wilkes died in the autumn of 1677, having devised the lot with a shop upon it to his nephew Robert Woodberry, then only five years of age. The lot was valued at thirty pounds. Mr. Woodberry lived in Beverly, being a mariner, and owned the shop and lot until 1707.

John Lander House. This lot was granted by the selectmen of Salem to John Lander April 5, 1672. The record of the grant is as follows: "Ino Lander Nich Maning for his Sone in law Joseph Grey James Symonds Nath Silby & petter Cheeuers haue Each of them a house Lott Granted them, according to the Same pportion wth Manasfes Marfton had, and they are Each of them to pay five pounds for Each lott, in Some Good

The house and land around it were assigned to his daughter Sarah Johnson. She was a widow Aug. 15, 1765, when she mortgaged “my mansion house heretofore of my father John Lander, deceased,” and land under and around it, to John Bray of Salem, cordwainer;* and she conveyed it to Mr. Bray Aug. 25, 1768.† Mr. Bray removed the old house before 1790, probably soon after 1768.

James Symonds Lot. This lot was granted by the selectmen of Salem to James Symonds of Salem, a joiner, April 5, 1672; and he continued to own it until his decease in 1714, when the lot was valued at thirty pounds.

Nathaniel Silsbee House. This lot was granted by the selectmen of Salem to Nathaniel Silsbee of Salem April 5, 1672. He erected a house upon the lot, and died possessed of the estate about 1718, administration being granted on his estate July 3, 1724. The estate remained undivided until Jan. 23, 1755, when a division took place. The house and lot were then valued at four hundred pounds. The estate was assigned to the eldest son Nathaniel Silsbee of Salem, housewright. Mr. Silsbee owned the property until his death Jan. 2, 1769, having devised it to his son William Silsbee. The house was gone before 1778, while the lot was owned by William Silsbee.

Sarah Manning House. This lot was granted to Thomas Beadle by the town on or before April 15, 1672.† Mr. Beadle was of Salem, mariner, and proceeded, sometime after the date of the grant, to erect a house upon the lot; but before he had completed the house, for thirty-four pounds sterling, he conveyed to Robert Stone of Salem, seaman, “the frame of a dwelling house, soe far as the carpenters work was now done to it, as it stands, raised, with all ye clabords, boards & shingles that belongs to it, & now lyes in place at or neere the said frame, with six windowes to be sett up, according to my first agreement with the carpenter, alsoe y° ground y° sd frame stands upon & is there adjoining, that belongeth thereto," etc. being this lot, April 12, 1676.* Mr. Stone died before June 24, 1690, when the inventory of his estate was taken, possessed of the house in which his daughter Sarah and her husband Jacob Manning then lived. The house, shop and lot were appraised at fifty pounds. Mrs. Manning apparently became the sole owner of the house and lot; and died before Oct. 25, 1756, when administration was granted upon her estate. The house was then called "an old house" and together with the land, was appraised at fifty-three pounds, six shillings and eight pence. The estate was divided Dec. 31, 1756, among the children of the deceased, Katherine Berry, Mary Booth and Sarah Manning being assigned the western half of the house and lot, and Samuel Manning and Benjamin Manning the eastern half. John Booth of Salem, laborer, and wife Mary, and Sarah Manning of Salem, spinster, for seventeen pounds, fifteen shillings and six pence, conveyed the interest they then possessed to her brother Benjamin Manning of Salem, mariner, Oct. 20, 1757.† Mr. Cheever died possessed of the remainder of this entire lot in the summer of 1699, having in his will devised the remainder of the Samuel Hayward lot to his son Peter Cheever. Peter, who also lived in Salem, glover, for seven pounds, conveyed it to Samuel Hayward Nov. 22, 1699;† and Mr. Hayward owned the whole of his lot for several years after 1700.

Mr. Cheever devised the lot marked "Samuel Cheever," and the butcher's shop thereon, to his son Samuel Cheever of Salem, seaman, who conveyed the property, for fourteen pounds and five shillings, to Thomas Medcalf of Ipswich, husbandman, Jan. 3, 1699-1700.‡

Mr. Cheever devised the remainder of his lot and the house to his wife Mary Cheever, the house and the portion of the lot he then possessed being valued at one hundred and ten pounds. Mrs. Cheever, for eighty-five pounds, conveyed the house called "a small old house," and ten rods of land around it to James Cheever of Salem, turner, March 7, 1727-8.§ Mr. Cheever removed the house before 1763, when his death occurred.

Richard Prince House. This lot was granted by the town in town meeting 7:1 mo: 1669-70, to Richard Prince, jr., the records being as follows: "Granted that Rich Prince Jun shall purchafe a houfe lott of the fame quantity in the Range of land next to Daniell Rumbals;" and the selectmen, at a meeting Sept. 25, 1671, "Laid out to m° Richard Prince A houfe lott downe in the Common Right ouer Against Michel Chaplmans houfe, and he is to pay the Towne five pounds

ANSWERS.

216. Leader Nelson's father, Joseph Nelson, was son of Matthew Nelson of Portsmouth, N. H. The latter was in Portsmouth's tithing men's list in 1678; and his first recorded deeds of land were in Newington on the river, in 1679, nearly opposite where Charles Nelson had bought land on the eastern shore in 1675. Savage's Genealogical Dictionary states that in 1684 he had a wife Jane (Rawlings?), and that in 1690 he was solicitor for Massachusetts. He had a second wife Agnes (Hunking?). He lived later in Portsmouth town, and last on "Walford's Plantation" at the head of Sagamore Creek, in Portsmouth, which he bought in 1697. He died before April 11, 1713. His children were as follows: ———, who married Nathaniel Tuckerman in 1708; John, who died, unmarried, about 1720; Matthew, who married Mary Cotton in June, 1715; Joseph, whose wife was Ann (Leader?); Mark, who married widow Elizabeth Man, a daughter of John and Elizabeth Kennard, Dec. 28, 1732. There were very proba- bly the following named children, also: James, who was in the "expedition eastward" about 1710; Abigail, who married Josiah Moses Nov. 12, 1719; William, who married Margaret Swaine Dec. 29, 1726; and Elizabeth, who married Benjamin Cowell Nov. 27, 1729. Many of the descendants of Matthew, Joseph and Mark have been traced. John, of Exeter, was son of Matthew. Leader's son Samuel probably settled in Barnstead, N. H., but further information about that is desired.—John M. Mosse, Strafford, N.H.

293. Elizabeth, wife, first of John Kingsbury of Rowley and Haverhill, and, second, in 1672, of Peter Green, was probably daughter of Elizabeth Button of Haverhill, as Elizabeth Button of Haverhill conveyed to her “son-in-law” Peter Green land in Haverhill Dec. 7, 1673, by deed recorded in Old Norfolk County Deeds, book 3, leaf 75. The witnesses to the deed were Henry Kinsberry and Joseph Kinsberry.—Ed.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A CHASE CHART. Mr. Francis Nelson Chase of Lowell, Mass., has published his ancestral chart mounted upon cloth. It gives its descent in its many lines, and is illustrated with autographs, coats-of-arms, and a drawing of the old Chase homestead at Corliss hill in Haverhill.

ON THE FORMATION OF LOCAL COLLECTIONS. By John Robinson. Salem, 1904. This is an important paper read at the field meeting of the Andover Natural History Society at the Alderbrook farm, July 20, 1904, by Mr. Robinson of the Peabody Academy of Science in Salem. Paper; nineteen duodecimo pages.

EZEKIEL CHEEVER, SCHOOLMASTER. By Elizabeth Porter Gould. Boston, 1904. This little cloth bound book of ninety-four pages, is a fine addition to similar monographs. The introduction is by Edward Everett Hale, D. D., and in his accustomed style. The larger portion of the volume is, of course, devoted to the biography of Master Cheever, who was born in London Jan. 25, 1614. He taught school in New Haven, Conn., 1639-1650, in Ipswich, Mass., 1650-1661, in Charlestown, 1661-1670; and in Boston, being master of the Latin School, 1671-1708. He taught up to his last illness, dying Sept. 12, 1708, when ninety-three years of age. Among the illustrations is a half-tone cut of the tablet to Master Cheever's memory in the Boston Latin School.

CHIPMANS OF AMERICA. By Alberto Lee Chipman. Poland, Me., 1904. Beginning with John Chipman, born at Bryans-Piddle, near Dorchester, England, who was the first and only one of the name to seek a home in America, the book contains a complete genealogy of the Chipman family as descended from him, down to the eighth generation. The volume contains 232 pages, but has no index. It is well printed in clear type on good paper. It is illustrated by half-tone cuts of the author and Rev. Richard Manning Chipman of Harwinton, Torrington, Chattam and East Granby, Conn., and Athol, Mass., and a colored print of the English arms of Chipman. Price, $4. Address Ye Chipman Printery, Poland, Me.

CUMMINGS GENEALOGY: Isaac Cummings, 1601-1677, of Ipswich in 1638; and some of his Descendants. By Albert Oren Cummins. Montpelier, Vt., 1904. Mr. Cummins has completed his extensive work upon the history and genealogy of the American Cummings family. The volume is bound in cloth, and contains 643 octavo pages, fifty seven of which comprise the index. The book contains considerable biographical matter, and much genealogy of the families of the daughters. It appears to be quite complete; and is well printed on fine paper with plain and tasteful type. There are many plates in the volume, mostly portraits, the frontispiece being an excellent likeness of the author. Mr. Cummins can congratulate himself upon the completion of his task, which he has so faithfully and successfully performed. He has published the volume himself. His address is Montpelier, Vt.; and the price of the book is five dollars.

NOTES.

Boston, Monday, May 22.

"Friday last failed for London, the Brig Laft Attempt, Capt. Lyde, in whom went Passengers" Mr. John Gcoll, merchant, of Salem, and others.

S A L E M, May 23.

"At a Town-Meeting, last Wednesday, Capt. Richard Derby, jun. and Mr. John Pickering, jun. were chosen, by a great Majority, to represent this Town in the ensuing General Assembly.

"The Meeting was adjourned to the 27th Inst. in order to agree upon Instructions to be presented to the above two Gentlemen that they may be fully acquainted with the Sense of the Town at this critical Period."

"The following is the Substance of a Memorial of Mr. Jacob Parsons, a Deputy Sheriff for the County of Essex, presented to the Governor and Council last Week.

THAT on the 15th day of May current at Gloucester, your memorialist, as one of the deputy-sheriffs of the county aforesaid, by virtue of a due process of law, had duly taken and legally held in custody, the body of one Josiah Merrill, as a prisoner. That, while your memorialist was then and there, in the due execution of his office aforesaid, one Samuel Fellows, a commander of one of his Majesty's armed cutters, then riding in the harbour of Cape-Anne, with four of his men, with firearms, cutlasses and other weapons of death, came, from on board faid cutter, with a boat on shore, and the faid Fellows immediately accosted the faid Merrill, by asking him— "What he did there?" Upon which faid Merrill replied, that— "an officer had taken him and had him in custody for debt;"— "that in consequence of this reply, faid Fellows, in an authoritative voice, commanded said Merrill to come away to him, and that he would protect said Merrill;
- - - - - That, on this encouragement, said Merrill broke away from your memorialift, and run towards said Fellows; - - - That your memorialift instantly commanded, in his Majesty's name, several persons, who stood near, to affiit in seizing and stopping his said prifoner; - - - That in obedience to this command from your memorialift, in his capacity aforesaid, several of his Majesty's liege subjects, with your memorialift, seized and held said prifoner; - - - - That said Fellows, who while this paffed, was within four rods from your memorialift and his prifoner, instantly on said Merrill's being seized and held, as last-mentioned, ordered his said four men to fire;
- - - That on this order two of said Fellows men leaped upon the beach, and run towards your memorialift and his said affiitants, till they got within two rods, when they preffented their arms directly at your memorialift and his affiitants, and fired; the shot and ball scarcely miffed us, and entered a store within a very few inches of where we ftood; - - - That the said prifoner taking advantage of the furprise and confernation your memorialift and his said affiitants were then in, and of the protection offered by one of his Majesty's officers, immediately broke away and run towards the said Fellows's boat; - - That, during the whole of this time, said Fellows and his men, altho' they were repeatedly told, that your memorialift was the King's officer, kept a constant round of oaths and imprecations upon your memorialift, and his affiitants; damning the King's officer and all who belonged to him; fwearing that they would blow the brains out, of the first man, who offered to touch said Merrill, or come towards the boat. - - - - - That they would take better fight next time, and the like; - - - - That as said Merrill came nearer to the boat, said Fellows and his men kept firing at your memorialift and his affiitants, till said Fellows commanded his men not to fire any more yet; but to keep a referve, for any who should attempt a retaking of said Merrill; - - - And that after said Fellows and his men had 6 or 7 times, by which your memorialift and his affiitants were in the most imminent hazard of their lives, the said Fellows and his men still defending said Merrill, retired on board the boat, and still kept firing, as they left the shore; and your memorialift has never since been able to retake his said prifoner, or bring said Fellows to justice."

To be sold at the store lately improved by Samuel Gardner, esq., deceased, English goods, 200 hogsheads of Lisbon and Cadiz salt, lignumvitae and Brazeletto; also a well-built schooner, burthen about sixty tons, with a half-deck, which takes in the main-mast and pumps.

BLANCHARD NOTES.

George Blanchard 2 (No. 2, on page 26, in The Antiquarian) is usually credited with having married a daughter of Joseph Hills, because Joseph Hills willed land to his granddaughters Hannah and Elizabeth Blanchard. Now this land was in Dun-able, and the Hannah and Elizabeth Blanchard, daughters of Dea. John Blanchard of Dunstable, were the ones who had the land; and in 1717 Tom Reed of Chelmsford, who married Hannah (of Deacon John) Blanchard, deeds rights in Hill's farm, said interest given his wife by grandfather Hills, etc. There remains not the faintest suggestion that George Blanchard 2 married — Hills.

Thomas Blanchard 2 (No. 3 on the same page) married Ann, daughter of Henry and Honour Rolfe of Newbury.
See Old Families of Salisbury and Ames-bury, page 301, and Honour Rolfe's will, in The Antiquarian, Volume IV., page 137.

Samuel Blanchard 2 (No. 4, on page 26) was admitted to full communion in the First church of Charlestown Sept. 11, 1680. On 25: 7: 1681, Thomas, John, Samuel and Hannah, children of "Goodman Samuel Blanchard," were baptized, and 29: 11: 1681, Joshua, Jonathan, Mary and Abigail, "ye children of or bro: Blanchard," were baptized. The children of the second wife were baptized first, and then all that were living of the first wife's children were gathered in. The references are New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Reg., vol. 23, p. 438, and vol. 25, pp. 252, 253; Bond's Watertown, p. 594. This provides an Abigail suitable for John Stratton of Watertown, whose wife Abigail died Oct. 25, 1732, aged sixty-six; so born about 1666. "Dau. Dorothy Storer which is my grandchild" is, I think, Dorothy Storer or Stowers, born March 23, 1699, to John Stowers and his wife Mary Blanchard, married Aug. 13, 1696. SALEM IN 1700. NO. 19.

BY SIDNEY PERLEY.

The map on page 75 represents that part of Salem which is bounded by Essex street, Washington square, Winter street, Bridge street and Collins cove. It is based on actual surveys and title deeds, and is drawn on a scale of three hundred feet to an inch. It shows the location of all houses that were standing there in 1700.

The brace marked "a" shows where Arbella street begins on Bridge street; "b", Webb street; "c", Pleasant street; "d", Pickman street; "e", Andrew street; "f", Briggs street; "g", Boardman street; and "h", Forrester street.

Essex street was called a street or highway in 1667; ye street, 1675; ye country road, 1690; ye highway or main street, 1695; the main street, 1725; and Essex street in 1796.

Washington square east next Essex street was only a little more than half as wide in the early days as it is now. It was called Thomas Beadle's lane in 1700; Ives lane, 1756; the common, 1794; Pleasant street, 1809; and has recently been called Washington Square East.

That part of Forrester street next to Essex street was a passage from the main road to the cove. Before the Edward Bishop lot was granted (in 1663), that lot constituted the passage, but after the grant of that lot to Jeremiah Butman in 1673, the way was changed to its present location. It was called a lane or highway down to ye cove in 1667; a lane, 1747; Gerrish's lane, 1794; East street, 1804; and Forrester street in 1862. That part of the street running parallel with Essex street was laid out over common land as early as 1767. It was called the street lately laid out Aug. 16, 1793; the street, 1793; a new street, 1794; street leading from the common to the neck, 1799; East street, 1809; and Forrester street in 1870.

The creek was an outlet for the ponds and swamp which now constitute Washington square. The creek was called the cove that goeth to the neck in 1662; Tuck's cove or creek, 1663; a cove, 1667; a kind of a creek, 1675; a small creek next the common land, 1683; ye creek or town common, 1700; the creek, 1732; a small creek next ye common, 1765; flats of Collins' cove, 1791; the cove, 1794; Gerrish's gutter, 1804; the gutter, 1826; flats, 1850; creek, 1858; and the brook in 1862. So it was open to some extent until the latter date. It must have been filled very soon afterward. Writing in 1790, Dr. William Bentley called this creek "the run of water which flows from the Common to Neckgate."

The dotted lines represent the rear limits of the original grants; the parts beyond were encroachments upon the common land before March 17, 1692-3, when the town voted that the several parties who had so encroached should pay for the land so taken; and that the owners are to keep open the creek that the water may freely pass and not annoy the inhabitants that live above them in.
the low swampy ground. When the common land shown on the map lying in the rear of the row of lots was granted to the owners of the adjoining lots, in 1793, a condition was inserted in each deed that the common shore should be forever kept open at the expense of the grantees.

In the original layout of the town a way eight feet in width was reserved along the water's edge; and as such the narrow path is mentioned on the south side of the creek in 1757. It continued to be a way until Forrester street was constructed, before 1793.

Collins cove was called the cove in 1664; the salt water, 1725; ye sea, 1737; a beach or river, 1787; river or creek, 1788; and Collins cove in 1858.

Dr. William Bentley, writing in 1790, stated that the point of land constituting the eastern end of George Hodges' lot was called Virgin point, "from three old maidens who lived near it, the place being now to be seen." The three "old maidens" were probably Mary and Hannah Hodges and their widowed sister Sarah Archer, children of George Hodges.

Doctor Bentley writes further that the part of the cove next to the Parkman pasture was called Shallop cove.

The lane anciently running from the bend in Forrester street to Shallop cove was in existence as early as 1664, and probably was located before the lots were granted at the first settlement of the town. At a town meeting held March 19, 1721-2, the town of Salem voted to sell this (then called Hodges) lane for five pounds; and, according to Doctor Bentley's journal, it was granted to Gamaniel Hodges Dec. 3, 1722. Doctor Bentley states that it was about twenty-four feet in width and twenty-five rods in length.

Washington square was called ye common commonly called the training place in 1664; ye town common, 1681; ye common or training field, 1689; Salem training place, 1709; ye training common, 1711; ye training field, 1749; and a way or common land of Salem in 1767.

Arbella street was laid out Dec. 24, 1860.

Webb street was laid out in May, 1797.

Andrew street was laid out Aug. 21, 1820.

Pickman street was laid out May 17, 1824; and was so called in 1829.

Pleasant street was laid out in 1796, as on December twelfth of that year it is described as "a street now staked out which is a continuation from Pleasant street to Bridge street;" was accepted by the town Sept. 2, 1797; and was called Pleasant street in 1801.

Briggs street was laid out in March, 1837, and was at first called Briggs court.

Boardman street was laid out July 15, 1879.

The ancient lane running along the southwestern side of the Parkman pasture, about eighteen feet wide, was the early way to the ferry and first settlement. This was used until Winter street was opened in or before 1668. After that time, John Neal fenced in the lane until Jan. 24, 1681-2, when the selectmen of Salem determined that Lt. Jeremiah Neale, as executor to the estate of his father John Neale, deceased, and in the behalf of the rest of his relations unto whom it may belong shall "have hould and peacably Enjoy the lane of the towne of aboute Eighteene foote wide which was betweene m' John Gedneys pastore land, and ye land of the Sayd Neales & now Incloaied by neale."* Winter street was included in the lots of Nicholas Hayward (or, Howard), and John Neale before it was laid out in or before 1668. The southwestern portion of the strip, about three-fourths of an acre belonged to Mr. Neale, and the rest, about one acre, was owned by Mr. Howard.* Winter street was called ye highway in 1682; highway or common land, 1790; the highway leading from Salem common toward Essex bridge, 1792; and Winter street in 1794.

*Town Records, Book of Grants, page 140.
Bridge street was one of the earliest roads in Salem, and was called the country road which goeth from Salem meeting house to the ferry in 1681; ye highway, 1698; ye highway y leads downe to ye ferry leading to Beverly, 1713; Ferry lane, 1743; and Bridge street in 1794.

In the sketches that follow, after 1700, titles and deeds referred to pertain to the houses and land under and adjoining and not always to the whole lot, the design being, after that date, to give the history of the houses then standing principally.

Thomas Beadle House. That part of this lot lying easterly of the dashes was a part of the lot of John Turner, who died Oct. 9, 1680, at the age of thirty-six. It descended to his several children, who were all very young, and his son John Turner of Salem, merchant, for sixteen pounds, conveyed it to Thomas Beadle of Salem, innkeeper, June 4, 1695.* How John Turner had the right to convey more than his inherited interest in this lot does not appear.

That part of the lot lying westerly of the dashes was the house lot granted by the selectmen of Salem, Aug. 7, 1672, to John Robinson in the following words: "Jn Robinson the Taylor, hath liberty Granted him to have a house lott in the Comon on the Same termes as other men haue theirs." Mr. Robinson built a dwelling house, barn and shop thereon and resided there. He conveyed the estate (in exchange with Mr. Beadle for his residence) to Mr. Beadle, who then conducted an inn across the street, June 18, 1695.† Mr. Beadle died May 23, 1700, possessed of the whole lot and the buildings. The estate was then valued at two hundred pounds. The house then had a kitchen, new room, north room, south chamber, north chamber, etc. His widow and administratrix Elizabeth Beadle, who was then widow of Capt. Thomas Dean, and Mr. Beadle's children, Benjamin Beadle, cordwainer, and Thomas Beadle, mariner, all of Salem, for two hundred and twenty-five pounds, conveyed the house, barn, shop and land to Benjamin Ives of Salem, glazier, Nov. 12, 1715.* Captain Ives lived here, and died possessed of the estate in 1752. The mansion house and land around it were then valued at two hundred and sixty-six pounds, thirteen shillings, and four pence. Three years later it was valued at two hundred and forty pounds. Captain Ives devised the estate to his daughters Elizabeth, Mary, Abigail, Martha and Margaret. To Mary, then wife of John Crowninshield of Salem, shipwright, the other children, John Ives, tanner, Elizabeth Ives, Abigail Ives, Martha Ives and Margaret Ives, all spinsters, and all of Salem, released the estate Oct. 25, 1756.† Mr. Crowninshield died, and his widow Mary Crowninshield of Salem, for one hundred and eighty pounds, conveyed the estate to her son Clifford Crowninshield, mariner, June 29, 1791. Clifford Crowninshield removed the house soon after.

Abial Turner Lot. John Turner owned this lot early and died possessed of it Oct. 9, 1680. The estate passed to his son, John Turner, who died in 1692, possessed of it. His real estate was not divided until March 22, 1696-7, when this lot was assigned to his daughter Abial Turner. It was then valued at thirty-two pounds and eleven shillings. She owned it until Jan. 22, 1705, when, for forty-five pounds, she conveyed it to Joseph Andrews of Boxford, yeoman.§

Christopher Babidge House. This lot was probably granted to Christopher Babidge before 1683, when he was its owner. He was living in 1711, and apparently died soon afterward, possessed of the lot and house which he erected thereon. This was one of the best houses in the neighborhood, the staircase still containing the ancient newel posts and balusters, and the rod from which were suspended the ancient leathern fire buckets. In the west lower room of this house met the committee of the East or Second church to consider the plans of its first meeting house which was built on the opposite side of the street in 1717. The estate was next owned by his son Christopher Babidge of Salem, cordwainer, who died in 1755, when the house, barn and land were appraised at one hundred and fifty-three pounds, six shillings and eight pence. The administratrix of the estate, for the payment of debts, for one hundred and fifty pounds, conveyed the estate to Richard Derby of Salem, merchant, Nov. 8, 1757.* Mr. Derby died Nov. —, 1783, having devised to his daughter Mary Crowninshield “the House in which she lately dwelt now occupied by Joseph Moses with the Land under & adjoining thereto, it being nearly opposite the meeting house in the East Parish in Salem with the appurtenances which I purchased of Christopher Babidge’s heirs.” The devisee was the wife of George Crowninshield of Salem, merchant, and for, thirty-five hundred dollars, they conveyed the house and lot to James Cheever of Salem, merchant, Aug. 24, 1799.† Captain Cheever died Sept. 23, 1839, possessed of the house and lot, which were then valued at three thousand dollars. His children, Sally Cook, and her husband Samuel Cook of Salem, merchant, James W. Cheever, of Salem, merchant, Ruth Shepard, widow, of Lodi, Ill., and Maria Cheever of Salem, singlewoman, for two thousand and seventy-five dollars, conveyed the house, store and land to Phineas R. Weston of Salem, trader, June 1, 1840.‡ Mr. Weston, in 1859, cut off the eastern end of the house, and removed that portion to Grant street, where it still stands. For three thousand dollars, he conveyed the estate to George R. Curwen of Salem Oct. 25, 1867; * and Mr. Curwen conveyed it, for the same consideration, to Emily L. Weston, wife of said Phineas, on the same day.* In 1861, Mr. Weston called the house “my old house.” Leverett Turner and his wife Ellen, in her right, and Alice Weston, singlewoman, all of Salem, apparently heirs of Mr. Weston, for two thousand and sixty-five dollars, conveyed

John Mascoll House. This lot was granted by the selectmen of Salem to John Mascoll, Sr., of Salem, gunsmith, 6:4:1662. He erected a house upon it before 1702. For forty-seven pounds, he conveyed the house and lot to Robert Stanbury of Salem, chirurgeon, Jan. 16, 1710-1. How the title passed from Doctor Stanbury is unknown. Matthew Pool of Boston, cooper, for twenty pounds, conveyed the house and lot to Samuel Carlton of Salem, mariner, Sept. 6, 1732. Mr. Carlton evidently removed the old house soon afterward.

Bartholomew Gale House. This lot was granted by the selectmen of Salem to Robert Lemon 6:4:1662. It belonged to Bartholomew Gale as early as 1675. The house was erected upon it before 1675. Mr. Gale owned the house and lot as late as 1702, and they were the property of Philip English and in the possession of William Brown in 1732. Mr. English died in 1736, owning the house and lot, which were then valued at eighty pounds. His administrator, for sixty-pounds, conveyed the house and lot to Joseph Browne of Salem, mariner, Oct. 22, 1742. The house was gone apparently a few years later.

Philip English Houses. That part of this lot lying west of the dashes was granted to widow Hollingworth by the selectmen of Salem 6:4:1662. It was subsequently the property of William Hollingworth, apparently widow Hollingworth's son. William Hollingworth conveyed it to Philip Cromwell of Salem before Sept. 23, 1675, when Mr. Cromwell conveyed the lot and a house which then stood upon it, which were then in the possession of Thomas Cloutman, to Philip English of Salem, mariner. Mr. English died in 1736, and this "small dwelling house" and land around it descended to his daughter Mary, wife of William Browne. Mr. Browne died before March 22, 1759, when she was a widow.* She died before or in 1767, possessed of the estate. The administrator of her estate conveyed the lot "with the remains of an old dwelling house thereon" to Joseph Mascoll of Salem, shipwright, Sept. 30, 1767.† Mr. Mascoll, for forty-six pounds, conveyed the lot "with ye remains of an old dwelling house thereon" to John Touzell of Salem, goldsmith, Oct. 24, 1767.‡ The house was gone before 1785, when Mr. Touzell died.

That part of this lot lying east of the dashes was granted to John Williams by the selectmen of Salem 6:4:1662. Mr. Williams lived here, being a fisherman, and he immediately erected a house upon this lot. For twenty-five pounds, twelve shillings and six pence, he conveyed the lot and house "newly built" to John Steevens of Salem, fisherman, Aug. 27, 1663.§ In 1673 and 1675 the premises were occupied by William Buckley. Mr. Steevens conveyed the house and lot to Capt. Walter Price of Salem before the latter's death, which occurred June 5, 1674, but the deed of transfer has not been found. Captain Price died possessed of the lot, and his executors, for fifty-six pounds and ten shillings, conveyed the house and lot and a shop with a cellar under it to Philip English Dec. 22, 1679.|| The estate had been then lately occupied by Tobias Carter. Mr. English died in 1736, possessed of the house and lot. In the appraisal of the estate the house was called "an old house," and the house and land around it were valued at fifteen pounds. In the division of the estate of Mr. English, Dec. 31, 1742, the house and land about it were assigned to the heirs of Susanna Touzell, widow of John Touzell, deceased. John Touzell of Salem, goldsmith, apparently a son of Mrs. Touzell, conveyed the old house and land around it to William Ha-

thorne of Salem, mariner, and his wife Mary and widow of Susanna Hathorne of Salem May 30, 1754.* The house was gone apparently a few years later.

Edward Bishop House. This lot was granted by the town of Salem to Jeremiah Butman, at a town meeting held 14: 1:
1672-3. The record reads: "Graunted to Jeremiah Butman & foe to his child a after him: a pcell of land to Build a house on near — Bucklye accordinge to the portion of the other lotts. If it be ther to be hade or any wher ther abouts as y w goe to the seaward." The selectmen recorded the laying out of the lot, April 3, 1673, as follows: "Laid out to Jeremiah Butname about eighteene Roade of land next adoyninge vnto — Buckley land." This lot of land had been used as a highway from the street to the cove, but the passage was subsequently made east of this lot where it still exists, being the eastern end of Forrester street. Mr.
Butman (or Bootman) built a house upon the lot before December, 1679. He removed to Beverly, where he was a yeoman; and, for love, conveyed to his son Mathew Butman of Beverly, husband-man, the house and lot, Oct. 16, 1690.†
For sixteen pounds Mr. Butman conveyed the lot and house to Edward Bishop of Salem, Sawyer, June 30, 1694.‡
The next owner of record is John Becket of Salem, ship-carpenter, who, with his wife Susanna, for eighteen pounds, thir-ten shillings and four pence, conveyed the house and lot to their son John Becket of Salem, shipwright, Dec. 25, 1759.§ John Becket, jr., died in 1781, possessed of the lot; and his children, grandchildren and others, John Becket, gentleman, and wife Sarah, William Pilee, cooper, and wife Elizabeth, David Felt, trader, and wife Susanna, Sarah Silsbee, widow, Rebecca Fairfield, widow, Thor-dike Deland, mariner, and wife Eunice, Benjamin Beckett, mariner, and John Beckett, jr., mariner, William Beckett, tanner, Joseph Beckett, tanner, all of Salem, and Hannah Henderson, for sixteen pounds, conveyed their interest in the westerly part of the house and lot to widow Hannah Cloutman of Salem, daughter of the deceased John Beckett, March 28, 1794.*
On the same day, for twenty pounds,
John Beckett, gentleman, and wife Sarah,
William Pilee, cooper, and wife Elizabeth,
David Felt, trader, and wife Susanna,
Sarah Silsbee, widow, Hannah Cloutman, widow, Thorndick Deland, mariner, and wife Eunice, Benjamin Beckett, mariner, John Beckett, jr., mariner, William Beckett, tanner, Joseph Beckett, tanner, all of Salem, and Jabez Henderson and wife Hannah, conveyed the easterly half of the house and lot to widow Rebecca Fairfield of Salem, daughter of the deceased John Beckett.† The house was removed a few years later.

Benjamin Gerrish House. This lot was granted by the town of Salem to Nicholas Bartlett of Salem before 1667.
He immediately built a house upon the land, and lived in it. For fifty-seven pounds, he conveyed the house "I lately built" and land to John Balden of Salem, seaman, April 10, 1667.† Mr. Balden (or Baldwin) died before 28: 9: 1673, when administration upon his estate was granted to his widow Arabella. The house and land were then valued at sixty pounds.
His administratrix conveyed the estate to the executors of the will of Capt. Walter Price, deceased, July 7, 1674;§ and they, for fifty pounds, conveyed the house and lot to Benjamin Gerrish of Salem in 1682.|| Deacon Gerrish was a merchant, and died April 24, 1713, having devised the estate, one-half to his wife Elizabeth and the other half to his six children.
The dwelling house, ware house, barn and land were then valued at two hundred pounds. The house then contained a "best room," kitchen, little bedroom, "best chamber," kitchen chamber and garret, and had a leanto. The estate of Deacon Gerrish was divided in 1734, and this house and lot were assigned to his widow. She died Dec. 24, 1734, aged sixty-one, having conducted a small dry-goods store, and being called "Madam Gerrish." She devised the house and lot to her son John Gerrish and her daughter Lydia, wife of John Brown, equally. Mrs. Brown died in 1744, and the estate was not divided until 1750, when the easterly half was assigned to John Gerrish, and the westerly half to Lydia Brown's young children.

The westerly half became the estate of Mrs. Brown's son Benjamin Brown, and he lived in the house. He died April 24, 1785, and it then passed to his son Benjamin Brown, who also lived in the house. He died Sept. 22, 1860, at the age of eighty-six. His heirs, Ebenezer S. Phelps of Middleton, William B. Gray, Eliza Gray, Lydia Sanborn, Richard Davis and wife Hannah, in her right, conveyed the house and land around it, for eight hundred and ninety dollars, to William H. Nichols of Salem Dec. 5, 1862;* Hannah Harmon of Harrison, Me., and Josiah M. Turner and wife Esther, in her right, conveyed their interest to Mr. Nichols Dec. 5, 1862;† James D. Langdon of Columbia, O., and wife Sally, in her right, conveyed the same part of the house and land to Timothy Welman of Salem, cordwainer, Aug. 13, 1756.§

John Gerrish, who was of Salem, schoolmaster, mortgaged the easterly half of the house and lot to William Lynde of Salem, merchant, March 21, 1747;* and released the equity to him Sept. 4, 1750.† Mr. Lynde died May 10, 1752, at the age of thirty-seven, having devised his interest in the house and land around it to his brother Benjamin Lynde of Salem, esquire. Benjamin Lynde, for twenty-one pounds, six shillings and eight pence, conveyed the same estate to his son Timothy Welman, jr., of Salem, mariner, Aug. 13, 1756.§ The son of Salem, fisherman, for forty pounds, conveyed his interest in the estate to Benjamin Brown of Salem, cabinet maker, July 15, 1765.|| Mr. Brown then became the sole owner of the old house.

This old house is described in 1863 as a quaint old building of very humble appearance. It had two sets of chimneys, four sets of clapboards, two sets of windows and frames, two sets of floors, three sets of doors and three coats of plaster. "Its iron bound frame" and the first boarding was on the decline. It was removed the next year.

Samuel Lambert House. This lot was granted by the town of Salem to Matthew Wood in 1667, and he immediately built on it a dwelling house, which was not fully finished Jan. 23, 1667-8. The house, having been mortgaged to Capt. George Corwin of Salem, merchant, and default in payment made, Captain Corwin, by order of Jeremiah Bootman, attorney of Mr. Wood, and Mr. Bootman sold and conveyed the estate to William Cash of Salem Jan. 23, 1667-8.¶ Mr. Cash was a mariner, and conveyed the house and land to Philip Cromwell of Salem*.

Oct. 12, 1677. Mr. Cromwell was a slaughterer, and, for thirty-five pounds, conveyed the estate to Jonathan Prince of Salem, cordwinder, Aug. 15, 1683. Mr. Prince died about 1685; his widow Mary, having married John Warner of Ipswich, was appointed administratrix of the estate; and she, for thirty-five pounds and ten shillings, conveyed the house, shop and lot to Samuel Lambert of Salem, mariner, Jan. 23, 1694. Mr. Lambert lived here, and died before May 19, 1729, when administration upon his estate was granted. He was succeeded by Jonathan Lambert and the latter died possessed of the estate, administration being granted on his estate Aug. 1, 1729.

The house, barn and lot were then valued at eighty pounds. The house was taken down March 18, 1789. Doctor Bentley records the fact in his journal, as follows: "March 18 [1789]. A building, the property of the family of Lambert, having one room upon a floor, and the entrance in a range with the chimney at the eastern end, the whole building facing the western end of English's Lane nearly, taken down."

Katharine Daland House. This lot was owned by George Hodges as early as Jan. 23, 1667-8, when a house was standing upon it. He was of Salem and a mariner, Nov. 3, 1681, when he conveyed the house and lot to Thomas Roots of Salem, weaver. Mr. Roots lived in the house, and died possessed of the house and land Nov. —, 1683, having, in his will, devised the estate to his wife Sarah for her life, and then to Katharine, daughter of George Hodges, and wife of Benjamin Daland of Beverly. The house and lot were then appraised at fifty pounds. Mrs. Daland conveyed the house and lot, for thirty-four pounds, to John Masury of Salem, tailor, May 6, 1700, the house, in 1693, having been occupied by Robert Bray. The house was standing in 1702, but apparently gone soon afterward.

Elizabeth Derby House. This lot was granted by the town of Salem to Richard Roberts 3mo., 1673, and was laid out to him, the record being as follows: "Laid out to Richard Roberts tailor a house lot two rods wide in the front so downe soe far as the upland goes towards the Cove this next to Georg hodg his house Lott." Mr. Roberts erected "a small cottage or dwelling house" upon the lot; and died possessed of the house and lot Jan. 4, 1698-9. He devised the estate, by a nuncupative will, to Mrs. Elizabeth Derby whom he owed and who agreed to provide for his funeral. The inventory described the estate as "a little house out of repair and land," and its appraised value is stated as twelve pounds. Mrs. Derby, for sixteen pounds, conveyed the house and lot to John Masury of Salem, tailor, Sept. 2, 1706.

Nehemiah Willoughby Lot. This lot was apparently owned by Isaac Estes in 1652, and by William Lord in 1657. Henry Bartholomew, sr., of Salem, merchant, owned it in 1681, and Nov. 12, 1689, for love to his daughter Abigail, wife of Nehemiah Willoughby of Salem, merchant, he conveyed it to his said son-in-law. Mr. Willoughby died possessed of the premises in 1702.

George Hodges House. That part of this lot lying north of the northern dashes was owned apparently by Thomas Roots as early as 1652.

That part of the lot lying between the dashes was conveyed by John Payne to Robert Pease, with a house thereon, 16: 2: 1652; and it came into the possession of Thomas Roots before 1657. The house was probably gone soon afterward.

That part of the lot lying south of the southern dashes was conveyed by John Payne to Thomas Weeks, for four pounds,

16:2:1652.* Mr. Weeks was of Salem, turner, and he erected a small dwelling house thereon. For sixteen pounds, he conveyed the house and lot to John Wilson of Salem 3:12 mo:1652.† Mr. Wilson was a mason, and, for eighteen pounds, conveyed the house and lot to Thomas Roots of Salem, weaver, July 1, 1657.‡

Thus Mr. Roots came into the possession of the entire lot and two houses thereon, and he conveyed the dwelling “wherein I now live” and the lot adjoining “now in the possession of the grantee” to George Hodges of Salem, mariner, Nov. 3, 1681.§ Mr. Hodges died in 1709, possessed of the house and lot. His inventory described this estate, being his homestead, as follows: “an old low dwelling house & a small old barn standing upon land that is about 3 acres & half: part of it a small old orchard a highway going through it near ye east end bound North with Nathl Beadle east ye Cove south with Mr Willoughbies land west with Salem training common.” It was valued at sixty-five pounds. The estate was divided among the heirs Jan. 25, 1737. The old house was then standing, but was gone soon afterward.

Samuel Gardner Lot. This lot was owned as early as 1681 by Samuel Gardner, jr., and he continued to possess it until he conveyed it March 7, 1701-2.||

John Archer Lot. This lot early belonged to Thomas Weeks, who died in 1656, leaving two daughters, Bethia and Hannah. Bethia married John Archer before 1664, and Hannah married John Pitman in 1667. Mrs. Pitman died Dec. 23, 1670, and Mr. Archer apparently purchased her half of the lot. The latter died possessed of the entire lot in 1700.

Ann Bradstreet Lot. That part of this lot lying north of the dashes was granted as “swampy ground” by the town of Salem to Rev. John Higginson 13:2:1661. The grant is recorded in the following words: “Graunted vnto m[.] Jno[.] Higgin-son of Pastor a pcell of Swampy ground lyinge & beinge in the Comon Pen neare M[.] Stileman field on the southe & m[.] Jno[.] Neals ye Towne of Essex in New England and now in ye Countye of Essex in New England and now in ye possession of Enfigne Joseph Andrews of ye Towne & County aforesd and ye of Swampy ground, Standing vpon ye Land Lately belonging to Madam Broadstreete of Salem in ye County of Essex in New England and now in ye possession of Benjamin Joseph Andrews of ye Towne & County aforesd and ye about Sixty years agoe there Lived in Said Houses William Golt & Jeremiah meacham.” Sworn to before Stephen Sewall, justice of the peace.”† This part of the lot belonged to Elias Stileman of Salem in 1661. He died in 1663. His son, Elias Stileman, of Salem, as administrator of the estate, for twenty-six pounds, conveyed this part of the lot to William Browne, jr., of Salem, merchant, April 7, 1664.‡ Mr. Browne conveyed the same portion of the lot to Lt. Joseph Gardner, who owned the other part of the lot, July 27, 1664.§ Thus Lieutenant Gardner came into possession of the entire lot. He was killed in the Narragansett fight in King Philip’s war, while commanding a company of soldiers, Dec. 19, 1675. He died childless, and his estate passed to his widow Ann, who married the next year, Gov. Simon Bradstreet. She owned this lot for ten years after 1700.

Deliverance Parkman and Susanna Parkman Pasture. This tract of twelve acres of land originally consisted of six two-acre lots apparently running north and south. When the writer first learns of them, there are three lots, first, a six-acre lot, then a two-acre lot, and beyond that a four-acre lot. The six-acre lot belonged, very early, probably originally, to Henry Cook. It then passed to Dr. George Emery; and before 1649 to John Gedney. The two-acre lot belonged, very early, and probably originally, to Richard Graves, who, for forty-two shillings and six pence, conveyed it to John Gedney Jan. 1, 1649.* The four-acre lot belonged, very early, and probably originally, to Michael Ward. He died, and it passed to his widow Margaret, who married, secondly, Thomas Rix, barber. Mr. and Mrs. Rix, for five pounds, conveyed it to Mr. Gedney 15:3:1655.† Mr. Gedney, for many years, conducted the Ship tavern, and this pasture, being used in connection with that inn, became known as the "Ship Tavern pasture." Mr. Gedney died in 1688, having devised the lot, one-half to Susanna Gedney, widow of his son John Gedney, and her children by her said husband, and the other half to the testator's son Col. Bartholomew Gedney. Colonel Gedney died Feb. 28, 1697-8, possessed of his half of the lot; and his children, Samuel Gedney, Hannah Grafton, Lydia Corwine, Bethiah Gedney and Deborah Gedney, all of Salem, conveyed the same interest to their uncle John's widow, Susannah, who had married Deliverance Parkman, of Salem, William Gedney of Salem, merchant, and Nathaniel Gedney of Salem, mariner, the owners of the other part, Dec. 10, 1698.‡ Fourteen days later, William Gedney of Salem, merchant, and Nathaniel Gedney of Salem, mariner, only surviving children of Mrs. Susannah Parkman, conveyed the lot to the latter's husband, Deliverance Parkman of Salem, merchant.* Mr. and Mrs. Parkman owned the lot a number of years after 1700.

Jeremiah Neal Lot. This was a portion of the ancient Tuck lot, which was owned by Nicholas Howard, a fisherman, in the early settlement of the town. On this corner was his dwelling house. The depositions of Edward Gaskin, aged about seventy, and Francis Skerry, aged sixty-six years or thereabouts, severally testify "that Nicholas Hayward had to his Knowledge a house plott, on which he y* said Hayward did live upon, when he came first to Salem, this sd house plott scituate & lying in Salem, upon the west corner of John Neales land, which lyeth as I goe from Salem Ipswich ward on the right hand: this abouesd p'cell of ground or house plott being bounded on the east or south east corner with the well w'ch was in ye sd house plott, & westerly neere upon a square home to ye sd Neales now standing fence by the road, & from ye sd well neere upon a square to ye sd Neale's now standing fence sotherly, & further he saith not. Taken upon oath 22:3 mo: 74. Wm. Hathorne Assistant."† Mr. Howard (or Hayward) removed to Beverly (then called Cape Ann Side) about 1641, but retained the house and lot. The house was probably gone soon afterward. After his death, his son Nathaniel Hayward of Salem, for twenty shillings, conveyed the lot, namely, "that house plott which yet is well known y* my father Nicholas Hayward did live on, when he did live in Salem towne," Dec. 14, 1681.‡ The narrow strip on the southwestern side of the lot, being about two feet wide at the southern end and running to a point at the other end, was granted to Jeremiah Neale Jan. 24, 1681, as hereinafter stated.† Mr. Neale owned the lot until after 1700.

Lydia Hart Lot. This lot was a portion of the Tuck lot, which was owned by John Neal as early as 1652.* Nathaniel Felton, sr., and John Massey, sr., testified, Jan. 15, 1699-1700, "that upon ye quarter of an acre of Land given by ye a bovesd John Neale unto his daughter Lidiah had a dwelling house upon it before the yeare 1661."* The house was probably gone in 1661. John Neal died May 12, 1672, having devised this part of the Tuck lot to his daughter Lydia, wife of Jonathan Hart, and after her decease to her children. She died about 1700, possessed of the lot.

Joseph Neal Lot. This was a portion of the ancient Tuck lot which was owned by John Neal as early as 1652.* John Neal died possessed of the lot May 12, 1672, having devised this part of it to his wife for her life, and then to his son John Neal. The son, John Neal, Jr., died in November, 1679, possessed of the lot. His widow married, secondly, William Starling of Lynn, shipwright; and the title to this lot was in Joseph Neal about 1700, but how he obtained the whole of it is unknown to the writer.†

+Estate of John Neal House. This was a portion of the Tuck lot, and was owned by Nicholas Howard in the early settlement of the town. He removed to Beverly (then called Cape Ann Side) about 1641, and conveyed this lot to John Neal in 1652.* There was a dwelling-house upon this lot before 1661. Nathaniel Felton, sr., and John Massey deposed, Dec. 13, 1699, that the "land given by John Neale Senr Deced Late in Salem, in ye County of Essex in New England in his will to his sonne John Neale now deceased in Said will Tucks Lott was by John Neale Senr possess'd from ye yeare fifty Two to ye yeare Sixty Two as his Owne right in Fee to our Certain knowledge & wee doe further Testify that upon part of the land given in Said will to his son John as abouesaid had a dwelling house upon It before The yeare 1661."* John Neal died possessed of the lot May 12, 1672, having devised this part of it, the house being gone, to his wife for her life, and then to his son John Neal. The latter died Nov. 1679, possessed of the lot. His widow Ann married, secondly, William Starling of Lynn, shipwright, and she, as administrator of the estate of her husband, conveyed this lot and the house that had been built upon it to her son Thomas Neale of Salem, husbandman, Feb. 13, 1699-1700.† On the same day Thomas each side were at the corners. The entry was in the space between the chimney and the side of the house. The stairs ascended over the projecting work of the chimney, which contained the oven. All the wood work of the house exhibited the account book of the old bachelor, for it was entirely covered with figures, neatly made, and with the names of the creditors. Dates might be traced for years past, and the course of his labours ascertained. The windows remained of diamond glass and lead, of two feet by one. The fireplace as laye as the room would admit. The house filled in with clay and bricks. The clapboards had been so long upon it as to be as thin as their adherence together could admit. The house sunk in the middle one end resting on the foundation of the chimney, and the other being on a range of cellar wall." This was called "an old house" in 1759.

†Dr. William Bentley, in his journal, states that an ancient house stood upon this lot in 1794. The house and lot were then owned by Robert Hooper who died that year, July 3, unmarried, at the age of sixty-eight. He lived with his aged mother in this house. Doctor Bentley wrote of him and the Neale of Salem, husbandman, Feb. 13, 1652.

sister Rebecca Neale released her interest in the lot to him.* Thomas Neale died in the spring of 1705, possessed of the house and lot, which were then appraised at seventy-five pounds. His brother Joseph Neal of Scituate, husbandman was heir of Thomas apparently; and Joseph, for fifty pounds, conveyed the house and lot to Jeremiah Neale, jr., of Salem, carpenter, Feb. 14, 1712-3.† Jeremiah Neale probably removed the house a few years later.

William Browne Lot. The principal part of this lot was a portion of the Tuck lot, which was owned by John Neal as early as 1652.‡ John Neal died possessed of this portion of this lot May 12, 1672, having devised the same to his wife for her life, and then to his son John Neal. The son John died in November, 1679, possessed of it. His widow and administratrix, Ann Neale, for forty-five pounds, conveyed it to Capt. William Browne, jr., of Salem, merchant, Feb. 16, 1681-2;§ and he owned it in 1700.

That part of this lot lying on the southerly end between the dashes was granted by the town of Salem out of the common land, at a town meeting held Aug. 27, 1673, in the following words: "Mr. Batter to have one q"r of an acre of Land next to the End of Jn° Neals ground neer old m° gedneys pature."|| "Mr. Batter" was Edmond Batter of Salem, merchant, who conveyed the lot to Jacob Pudeater of Salem, blacksmith, who lived across the street, May 15, 1674.¶ Mr. Pudeator conveyed it to William Browne, jr., of Salem, merchant, Feb. 7, 1681; and Mr. Browne owned it in 1700.

That part of this lot lying within the dashes at the south-eastern corner, and the long strip on the western side next the street, which was apparently a part of the lot the town purchased of Nicholas Hayward, were granted out of the common land "in part of satisfaction for about three-fourths of an acre of land the town of Salem had of John Neale, deceased, for a highway which said land joyned to ye land that was formerly Thomas Watsons." The following is a copy of the town record:—

—Ipswich town records.

I love to think of old Ipswich town,—
Old Ipswich town in the east countree,—
Whence on the tide you can float down
Through long salt grass to the wailing sea
Where the Mayflower drifted off the bar,
Seaworn and weary, long years ago,
And dared not enter, but sailed away
Till she landed her boat in Plymouth bay.

I love to think of old Ipswich town,
Where Whitefield preached in the church on the hill,
Driving out the devil until he leaped down
From the steeple's top, where they show you still,
Imbedded deep in the solid rock
The indelible print of his cloven hoof,
And tell you the devil has never shown
Face or hoof since that day in the honest town.

I love to think of old Ipswich town,
Where they shut up the witches until the day
When they should be roasted so thoroughly brown
In Salem village twelve miles away.
They've moved it off for a stable now,
But there are the holes where the stout jail stood,
And at night, they say, that over the holes
You can see the ghost of Goody Coles.

I love to think of old Ipswich town,
That house to your right a rod or more,
Where the stern old elm trees seem to frown
If you peer too hard through the open door,
Sheltered the regicide judges three,
When the royal sheriffs were after them,
And a queer old villager once I met
Who says in the cellar they're living yet.

I love to think of old Ipswich town,
Harry Main, you have heard the tale, lived there,
He blasphemed God so they put him down
With an iron shovel at Ipswich bar.
They chained him there for a thousand years,
As the sea rolls up to shovel it back;
So when the sea cries the goodwives say,
"Harry Main growls at his work today."

I love to think of old Ipswich town;
There's a graveyard upon the old High street,
Where generations are looking down
On the one that is toiling at their feet;
Where the stones stand shoulder to shoulder like troops,
Drawn up to receive a cavalry charge.
And graves have been dug in graves till the sod
Is the mound of good men gone to God.
I love to think of old Ipswich town,—
Old Ipswich town in the east countree,—
Whence on the tide you can float down
Through the long salt grass to the wailing sea.
And lie all day on the glassy beach,
And learn the lesson the green waves teach,
Till at sunset, from surf and seaweed brown,
You are pulling back to Ipswich town.

306. Sarah Hovey, who married Jonathan Remington of Rowley (later of Suffield, Conn.) June 11, 1701, was undoubtedly a daughter of Nathaniel Hovey, who was born in Ipswich March 20, 1657. Her mother was Sarah Fuller. Miss Hovey was born in Ipswich in September, 1680.—Ed.

307. Elizabeth Lull of Rowley, who married Richard Tyler in 1725, was probably daughter of Thomas Lull, Sr., of Ipswich, weaver, who was born Oct. 17, 1637, and died in Ipswich Dec. 31, 1719.—Ed.

314. Mary Bodwell who married Timothy Merrick in Methuen Dec. 5, 1728, was daughter of James Bodwell of Methuen, yeoman, who died there in 1746. Mr. Bodwell’s will, dated March 19, 1745, was proved July 7, 1746. He mentions his sons Stephen Bodwell and James Bodwell, daughters Mary, wife of Timothy Mirick, and Hannah, wife of John Hubbard, Jr., and second wife Sarah.—Ed.

Notes for the Guidance of Authors.
New York, 1905. This is a pamphlet of sixty-six 32 mo. pages, useful to authors in the submission of manuscripts to publishers.

The Irish Vanguard of Rhode Island.
By Thomas Hamilton Murray. Boston, 1904. This is a pamphlet of twenty-seven octavo pages relative to the Irish who were early in Rhode Island. It is interesting and valuable; and is published by the American-Irish Historical Society, 36 Newbury Street, Boston, Mass.

Concerning Genealogies. By Frank Allaben. New York, 1905. This is a bound book of seventy-one duodecimo pages, containing excellent advice and suggestions for all interested in genealogical work and in the preparation of the history of a family. It is published by The Grafton Press, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Some Voices from Ye Olden Time: Historical notes relating to the Irish element in early American life. By Thomas Hamilton Murray. Boston, 1904. This is a pamphlet of 27 octavo pages, and is a collection of odd notes relating to the Irish in America in the colonial and provincial days. This is also published by the American-Irish Historical Society, 36 Newbury street, Boston, Mass.

Vital Records of Marblehead, Mass. Salem, 1904, 1905. The Essex Institute has completed the printing of the births, baptisms, intentions of marriages, marriages and deaths in Marblehead before 1850. The first volume, containing the births and baptisms was issued last year, and the second volume, which includes the marriages and intentions and deaths, has just been issued. The two volumes aggregate 1272 pages, and are sold, bound in cloth, for $13.20. Perhaps more demands have been made for the collection and printing of the Marblehead vital records than for those of any other town because the town records are so meagre and the index so poor. In this work, as heretofore, are records from gravestone inscriptions, church records and family bibles. The address of the Essex Institute is Salem, Mass.

The Old Shipmasters of Salem: With mention of eminent Merchants. By Chas. E. Trow. New York, 1905. This interesting and valuable addition to the written history of Salem’s commercial life is issued in an attractive manner, and will be read by thousands who are glad to have such sketches as these preserved. Much of the material was gathered by the author from original sources, principally from log-books. There is not much in the way of biography in the volume, the aim of the writer having been to show the type of men who were in command upon the seas, and their life and times. The book is well illustrated with half-tone portraits of several sea-captains, merchants and others, of houses and vessels, and other half-tone and line prints. It is bound in cloth, and contains 337 pages. The publishers are C. P. Putnam’s Sons, New York City; and the price is $2.50; twenty cents to be added if sent by mail.

The House of the Seven Gables. By Nathaniel Hawthorne. Boston, 1905. This is a specially illustrated edition of this famous story of Hawthorne with aids to the study of the house of the seven gables described therein. Mrs. H. A. Davidson has made this an edition fitted for the exhaustive study of the work. The frontispiece is a drawing of the house which figures in the story as the house of the seven gables. The drawing has been made from the many references to and minute descriptions of it in the story, all being consistent with each other. The effort was made to reproduce the house the author described whether it ever existed in fact or not. The study is divided into the subject of the Hawthorne family, the author’s childhood, youth, college life, and subsequent life in Salem, Concord and Lenox; the story and its scene; the Pynchon ancestry; family history and mansion; the Maule family; the opening of the shop, and subsequent events and characters in the story. Much matter is given in both novel and notes illustrative of life and times but little known to-day. The book is cloth-bound, and has 423 pages. Price, 60 cents. It is published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

The will of Rev. Ezekiel Rogers of Rowley was proved in the Ipswich court March 26, 1661. The following is a copy of the original testament on file in the probate office at Salem.

I Ezekiel Rogers Borne at wethersfield in Essex in old England now of Rowley in Essex in New England being at this time of Good memory and Competent health through God's mercy, yet not knowing when the Lord may be pleased to put an end to this Pilgrimage doe Ordaine and make This my last will and Testament.

And first I will and desire that Everlasting praises be Gien to the one holy God in Jesus Christ as for all his mercies to me which are innumerable so for these three Spetiall Blessings: first for my Nature and Education under such a Father m'r Richard Rogers, in Cataphisme and knowledge of the holy scriptures the want whereof I see to be the maine Cause of the Errors of the times.

Secondly that whereas till I was aboue twenty yeares of Age I made but ill use of my knowledge but liued in a formall profession of Religion, the Lord pleased by occasion of a Sore Sickness which was like to be death to make me to see the worth and Neede of Christ and to take such houdle of him as that I could never let him Goe to this houre whereby I am now encouraged to bequeath and commit my Soulle to his hands who hath Redeemed it, and my Body to the Earth since he will Gie me with these very eyes to see my Redeemer.

Thirdly to my Calling even to be a minister of the Gospel the most Glorious Calling in the world which the Lord brought into, not without difficulty for my calling in the time of the hottest Persecution of that Bloody Hirarchy and being Inlightened concerning the evil and snare of subscription and Ceremonies I was advised to give over the thought of the ministry and to betake myselfe to the study and practice of philosophy But the Lord mercifully prevented it; for though it be a Good and Necessary Calling; I have observed that the most through there owne corruption have made it to themselves the very Temptation to covetousnes or lust or both, I therfor chose Rather to lie hide about a dozen yeares in an honorable famely exercising my selfe in ministirial duties for about a dozen yeares after my leaving the vnverifity. Then the Lord Gave me a Call to a Publicke Charge at Rowley in Yorkehire whereby the Gentlenesse of — by mathewe I was favoured both for subscription and Ceremonies and enjoyed my liberty in the ministray about feaventeene Years in Comfortable fort Till for Refusing to Read that accorded Booke that allowed sports on Gods holy Sabbath or Lords day I was suspended and by it and other bad signes of the times Driuen with many of my hearers into New England where I have liued in my Pastoral Office about — years with much Rest and comfort Belieueing the way — he Churches here to be according to the present light that God hath Gien the purest in the whole world.

Now Age and Infirmities Calling vpon me to looke daly for my Change I professe myselfe to have liued and to dye an unfeigned Hater of all the Bafe opinions of the Anabaptists and Antinomians, and all other phrenticke dotages of the times that spring from them which God will ere longe cause to be as doing on the earth I doe also protest against all the evil fashions and practices of this Agee Both in Aparrtice and that General Disguisement of longe Ruffanlike haire A Cus-tome most Commonly taken vp at that time when — Graue and modest weareing of haire was a part of the Reproach of Christ as appeared by the terme of Round...

ELIZABETH BISCO.

Hon. Edmund Trowbridge was born in Newton in 1709, graduated at Harvard college in 1728, and became one of the most eminent lawyers in the province, probably the most profound common lawyer of New England. Indeed, Chancellor Kent called him "The oracle of the common law of New England." He had the best library in New England. He was attorney-general of Massachusetts, 1749-1767; a member of the council in 1764; and a justice of the supreme court of the province in 1767.

Judge Trowbridge married, March 15, 1732, Miss Martha Remington, daughter of Judge Remington, and she died in July, 1772.

When trouble between the province and the mother country came on, Judge Trowbridge's sympathies were with the crown under which he had held office so many years, though he rarely gave any one the impression that he was a tory. He endeavored to remain neutral; and when the clash of arms came at Lexington and Concord, and Washington's army was encamped near his house in Cambridge, he left his home, and went to the retired parish of Byfield, that he might not be compelled to forego his neutrality. Doctor, afterward General, Joseph Warren, furnished the suggestion of this removal from the scenes of ardent patriotism and strife. He boarded in the family of Rev. Moses Parsons, pastor of the Byfield church.

With Judge Trowbridge came his colored man, named Sam, and a lady, a distant relative, Miss Elizabeth Bisco of Cambridge. The judge had been a widower upwards of two years, and just what his intentions relative to Miss Bisco were is not known beyond what is suggested by the following papers on file in the probate office at Salem. The first is a nuncupative will, and the second an affidavit stating certain facts relative to Miss Bisco's sickness and death.

The reason that was given for their coming to Byfield was to avoid the small-pox; and only four days after their arrival Miss Bisco was taken sick with that dreaded disease. May 6th, she was removed to the pest house in Rowley, where she died on the 21st. She called Judge Trowbridge "Mr. Goffe," a name by which he was called a portion of his life by his friends, having had an uncle Goffe.

The will is as follows:

"Rowley may ye 18 1775

"Mrs Elisabeth Bisco gave to Sarah Stevens Daughter of the Revd Benjamin Stevens my Laid handkfs, Cap, Ruffles & Leather mounted fan She also gave to Revd Moses Parsons' Daughter my light Padusoy gown & light Coloured Lute String Gown & another Gown there is with Linnen there I Likewise owe Peggy Fesenden two Dollers for Work Which I Desire Mr Goff to pay & the rest of my estate I give mr Goff and make him my Executor. Taken from her own mouth in presence of us the Subscribers.

"John Bailey
William Hale Junr
Mary Rufsel"

"Likewise the above mr Bisco gave to mr Mary Rufsel her light Coloured Petticoat and a Riding hood to Dinah a negro Girl in presence of us the Subscribers

John Bailey
Mary Rufsel"

The affidavit of John Bailey is as follows:

"I John Bailey of Rowley in the County of Essex Chaimaker of lawful age testify & declare That Mrs Elizabeth Bisco
ELIZABETH BISCO.

being visited with the small pox at By-field and removed from thence to Rowley on the sixth day of May last M'rs Mary Russel & I nursed her untill she died there on the twenty first day of the same month. That during her sicknesse Edmund Trowbridge Esq came every day within call of the house to know how M'rs Bisco did & what she wanted: that on the eighteenth day of May last I told M'rs Bif-co that Judge Trowbridge was come to know how she did & if she wanted any thing; Upon which she said tell M'rs Goffe
I am afraid I shall never see him again.
I went out and told the said Trowbridge what M'rs Bisco said & how she was. He bid me tell her he hoped she would see him again & that she would do very well but bid me ask her how she would have her things disposed of if she should do otherwise than well. I did so & thereupon she the said Elizabeth Bisco said they are all M'rs Goffe's & he may dispose of them as he pleases. I went out & told the said Trowbridge what M'rs Bisco had said. He replied I had rather she would say how she would have what she leaves disposed of if she should not recover & I will endeavour it shall be done accordingly, & desired me to tell her so which I did after he was gone; and thereupon the said M'rs Bisco declared before Mary Russel William Hale junr & myself that she gave to Sarah Stevens the daughter of the Rev'd Benjamin Stevens her laced handkerchief cap ruffles & leather mounted fan & that she gave to the Rev'd Mofes Parsons' daughters her light padufoy gown & light coloured luttring gown & another gown there is there with some linen there and that she owed Peggy Fessenden two dollars for work which she defired M'rs Goffe to pay & that she gave the rest of her estate to M'rs Goffe and made him her Executor. This was pre-ently reduced to writing by the said Hale who read it over to the said M'rs Bisco & asked her if it was right & agreeable to her mind & will. She answered it was right & well & thereupon we subscribed our names thereto as witnesses thereof in her presence; and afterwards the said M'rs Bisco declared before M'rs Rusel & me only that she give her light coloured petticoat to M'rs Rusel & her riding hood to Dinah a negro girl, saying it will do for her & she wants one. And I further declare that during M'rs Bisco's sicknesse whenever the spake of or concerning the said Trowbridge she ufed to call him M'rs Goffe & that she appeared to me to be of found mind when she made the several declarations aforesaid & to understand well what she said & did

"John Bailey"

This affidavit was sworn to in court
June 13, 1775.

William Hale, jr., of Rowley, aged twenty, and Mrs. Mary Russel (wife of Henry Russel of Ipswich, yeoman) deposed to the same facts at the same time.
The will was presented to the court by Judge Trowbridge and allowed July 25, 1775. He was appointed executor, and gave bond on that day, with Theophilus
Parsons of Falmouth, Cumberland county, Me., gentleman, as surety. The witnesses to the bond were Peter Frye and Susanna Hovey.

Miss Bisco's next of kin of whole blood were John Bisco of Spencer and Josiah Bisco of Watertown, who appeared in court, but did not object to the will.
Other next of kin were Jabez Tatman of Worcester, who married Sarah Gookin, and his two children by her, John and Lydia; and Samuel Parker of Berwick,
Me., Noah Parker, Benjamin Parker, jr.,
Mary Parker, Sarah Parker, Elizabeth
Haley and Hannah Webber, all of Kitt-tery, Me., children of Benjamin Parker, esq., of Kittery.

Judge Trowbridge subsequently returned to Cambridge, and died April 2, 1793, at the age of eighty-four. He had no issue.

SALEM IN 1700. NO. 20.
BY SIDNEY PERLEY.

The map on page 117 represents that part of Salem known as Salem Neck and Winter Island. It is based on actual surveys and title deeds, and is drawn on a scale of eight hundred feet to an inch. It shows the location of all houses that were standing there in 1700.

Winter harbor was so called as early as 1636. The following consecutive references show that it has filled up to some extent. It is first called the sea or Winter harbor, and the cove or Winter harbor, and later ye creek called Winter harbor. These dates are between 1675 and 1713.

Cat cove was so called as early as 1638. It was called the river over against Winter Island in 1659; the cove, 1742; and Cat cove opening to the harbor in the South river, 1792.

Collins cove was so called in 1723; and also, in the same year, Planters Marsh cove.

The causeway connecting Winter Island and the Neck was built about 1645. At a town meeting, 7:2 mo: 1645, "Capt. Trask, Peter Palfry & Jeffry Massy are appointed by the town to sett out the way neere Mr. Holgraues hose into winter Island." This was called the causeway in 1677; ye way and bridge which leadeth down to Winter Island, 1713; the way which leads to ye fort, 1714; and the way, 1738.

The Neck is first mentioned 12 mo: 1634, in the town records, as follows: "It is agreed that the townes neck of land shalbe preserved to feed the Catle on the Lords dayes and therefore paticular men shall n[ot] feed their goates there at other tymes, but bring them to the h—that grass may grow against the Lords dayes." At a meeting of the proprietors of the common lands in Salem, held Nov. 22, 1714, it was "Voated That the Neck of Land to the Eastward Part of the Blockhouses be Grant[ed] and Reserued for the use of the Town of Salem for a Pasture for Milch Cow[es] and Rideing Horfes, to be fenced at the Towns Charge and Lett out year[y] to the Inhabitants of the Town by the Selectmen, and no one Person to [be] admitted to putt Into Said Pasture in A Sumer more than one Milch Cow or one Rideing Horfe and the whole number not to exceed Tw[o] Acres and a half to a Cow and fouer Acres to A Horfs the Rent to be paid into the Town Treasurer for the Time being for the use of thee Town of Salem."*

The neck was called the Neck in 1636; the town Neck, 1669; Salem Neck, 1675; and town pasture, 1738. It has been known as the Neck generally to the present time.

Butt point was so called as early as 1637. The first ferry from Marblehead had this point for a terminus.*

Between Butt point and the extreme western end of the map near the narrowest part of the Neck Richard Hollingworth built ships. His son succeeded him as a ship-builder here. They occupied the place for that purpose more than fifty years, prior to 1690.‡

At a town meeting, 7:7: 1637, "It is granted to Mr Stephens to have 18 poole of ground by y^e waters side in length & 12 poole in breith in y^e narrow of y^e neck for the building of Ships prvided, y^e neck is employed for y^e ende. "At a town meeting, April 13, 1661, "Mr Rich Hollingworth moving to have the Land bought by his father of Mr Stephens upon the neck of land to be Confirmed to him refered to the Selectmen."† At a meeting of the selectmen, April 22, 1661, "Rich Hollingworth his fathers grannt of land to

Several grants of land were made by the town in this neighborhood, but probably few of them were laid out, and apparently those that were laid out received no fee in the land. 20:4:1637, "It is ordered that Richard Johnson is received an Inhabitant and is appointed half an acre of land for an house lott near unto Richard Hollingworths works." 7:7:1637 "Wm Huson Tho Chadwell & Roger — shall have each of them half an acre of ground at But poynote neere where Hollinwood builds." 15:2:1639, "Charles Glover is admitted to be an Inhabitant within this towne, desires the place between Hollingworth & Mr Steephehs at Cat-cove, as also for planting ground."

Other grants were made, many of which were probably never laid out. 1:11 mo:1637, "Richard Moore is Rec. Inhabitant and is granted half an acre one the [Darb] neck." 4:12 mo:1638, "Henry Bayly desires a little nooke of land next Mr Conants house at Catt Cove." 8:6 mo:1639, at a private town meeting, "Graunted to Thomas Pickton a tenn-acre Lott & a house lot of half an acre upon the neck neere Catt Cove. Graunted to Beniamyn Parmitter one acre of land upon the north side of the neck next to Henry Bayly. Samuell Edson is intertayned to be an inhabitant within this towne, and halfe an acre of ground is graunted him neere Catt Cove, & 5 acres more for planting ground. Henry Sills by mr Sharpes man is receued an Inhabitant within this Jurisdiction & ther is graunted to him halfe an acre of land neere the Cat Cove for a howse plott." 16:7:1639, the town voted that "There is graunted Mathew Nixon a house lott at Cat Cove & a plott for a garden of about a quarter of an acre." 18:9:1639, "Mr Ruck desires a howse lott in Cat Coue & there is graunted to him one acre in that place to be layd out by the towne." At a meeting of the seven men, 12 mo:3:1647, "Ed: Wilson mad a request for a ¼ of acre of land in the neck near his house: left to Capt. Hawthron & to mr Corwine to view it."

In 1639, Micha Ivers owned a lot of land in the cove near Mr. Holgrave's, by Dixie's, and, also, half an acre of land upon the neck toward Winter harbor that he had bought of George Dill.*

Winter Island is first mentioned 18:2:1636, in the town records, as follows: "Granted unto m' John Holgrave fisherman three quarters of an acre of land vp on Winter Island for flakes &c." 18:9:1639, the records of the town read as follows: "It is permitted that such as have fishing lotts about Winter Harbo' & the Iland shall haue libertie to fence in their lotts to keepe of the swine & goates from their fish, soe that they leave it open after harvest is in." 11:10 mo:1639, the town voted "that the fence wth was intended to be sett vp [was] by John Holgrave at Winter Island & the neck are forbidden & eu'ie one to fence their owne ground." The next month, the town voted "That the Iland Caled Winter Iland may be fenced Inn for the saftie of the fishing trade & so to Continue vntill the prim. of the third month Called may vnless such as haue Goates doe fence in the flaks for the saftie of [the] fish." At a town meeting held 3:12 mo:1644, "It is ordered that Mr Hathorne Henry Bartholomew & Mr Moses Mauericke, Captaine Trask & Goodman Lord: or any ffloure of them: [shall] be intreated to view the Ground & marsh at winter Iland & to returne to the next generall towne meeting the true estate of things how they stand concerning the seuerall lotts there." 17:3:1655, the town voted and "Its: Ordered y': the Iland where the [fort] is: is appropriated for the vse and ... of the mayntaininge the fort." There were early at least two or three warehouses upon the island. Capt. Walter Price of Salem owned a warehouse on Winter Island at the time of his death in 1674. It was then valued at forty-five pounds. In his will he gave half of it to his son Capt. John Price. It was standing June 23, 1697, when the executor of the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Price of Salem, deceased, conveyed one-eighth of one-half of it to John Ruck and his wife Elizabeth, daughter of the deceased Elizabeth Price, and after their deaths to their sons Samuel and James Ruck.* Thomas Ives of Salem, for twenty pounds, conveyed to Stephen Sewall of Salem and Nathaniel Dummer of South ton, England, "all ye warehouse or fish house, with the leantou adjoining as it is standing & being att Winter Island in Salem," Nov. 23, 1686.† Stephen Sewall, esq., of Salem, merchant, for four pounds and ten shillings, conveyed to Capt. John Browne of Salem, merchant, his eighth part of the wharf and wharf land at Winter Island in Salem "at ye place sometimes knowne by ye Name of fish Street," Jan. 20, 1712.‡ The administrator of the estate of Lt. Thomas Gardner of Salem, deceased, conveyed to Capt. John Turner of Salem, merchant, a certain warehouse or fish house in Salem "at a place comonly Known by ye name of Winter Island nigh ye wharfe there," Dec. 23, 1698.§ Thomas Maule of Salem, merchant, for forty-three pounds, conveyed to James Browne of Salem "a certaine fish house or Ware house at winter Island So called within ye Towne of Salem aforesaid Standing on ye North Side of Said Island neare vnto ye fish Street & is Joyning vnto a ware house now in the possession of Benjamin Gerrish of Salem," Jan. 31, 1698-9.¶ At a meeting of the proprietors of the common lands in Salem, held Nov. 22, 1714, it was "Voated That Winter Island be wholly Resered and Granted for the Vse of the Fishery and shuch Shoreman as Dry fish there who Live in the Town shall pay an acknowledgment or Rent of five shillings p annum for a Room to dry fish for a fishing vessell and such as liue in other Towns that come and dry fish there shall pay an acknowledgment or Rent off Twenty Shillings p annum for a fish Roome for each vessell; To be Lett by the selectmen of the Town of Salem yearly and the Rents to be paid in to the Town Treasurer for the Vse of the Town; The Hirers to fence in the same att their own Charge." Winter Island has been so called, generally, since 1636. It was called The Winter Island in 1637, and Winter Neck in 1644.

Several grants were made by the town of lands lying upon Winter Island, but the location is not known, and probably the grants only included the use of the land. 3: 1 mo: 1637, "Widow Moore desireth a howsloote [vpon] neere vnto the Winter Iland among the fishermens lotts.'

In the inventory of the estate of Timothy Lyndall of Salem, in 1699, one item is the following: "An old tattered house at Winter Island £ 1, 6 s."

Mr. Thomas Maule of Salem, for thirty-three pounds, to Benjamin Gerrish of Salem, part of "a certain warehouse with the land it stands upon, carrying that breadth down to the water side westward, * * in ye bounds of Salem, upon Winter Island, * * butting on Catt cove," Jan. 6, 1690-1;† and Mr. Gerrish, for a similar consideration, reconveyed the same land and buildings to Mr. Maule April 14, 1693.‡

John Hardy of Salem died possessed of one-half of a house on Winter Island, "in which we lay fish," in 1652.

William Roach and Hannah Roach Lot. This lot is now the site of the alms-house; and it belonged to Thomas Pigden before 12: 11 mo: 1661, when John Oidney of Salem, vintner, for love, conveyed it to his son-in-law, Nicholas Potter, sr., of Salem, bricklayer, and wife Mary, daughter of the grantor.§ Mr. Potter died 18: 8: 1677, having devised this lot to his six children, Samuel, Benjamin, Sarah, Mary, Hannah and Bethiah. By an agreement between the children, dated Aug. 14, 1697, this lot was assigned to Hannah, who was wife of William Roach.* Mr. Roach died possessed of the lot in 1705, and it was then appraised at fifteen pounds. His widow married, secondly, Daniel Darling of Salem, cordwainer, April 15, 1717; and Mr. and Mrs. Darling conveyed the lot to her son William Roach of Cape Cod, tanner, July 16, 1718.† Mr. Roach, then a whale-fisherman, conveyed the lot to Benjamin Ives of Salem, glazier, Sept. 25, 1723; and in 1739, Mr. Ives released it to the town of Salem for land granted to him elsewhere.

John Higginson Lot. That part of this lot lying north of the dashes was granted to Rev. John Higginson 13: 2: 1661. The lot was described as "five Acres of land in the great neck neare to Mordechai Creuets new Dwelling."§ Mr. Higginson, for twenty-five pounds conveyed the lot to Capt. Thomas Savage of Boston, merchant, Nov. 25, 1671.||

That part of the lot south of the dashes was granted very early to Thomas Moore, John Herbert, John Pride, and others. The lot of Thomas Moore, "sonne to widow Moore," granted to him by the town 11: 5 mo: 1636, occupied the extreme eastern point of this part of the lot. Mr. Moore removed to Southold, Long Island, and for ten shillings, conveyed to Mordica Craford the half-acre, "joining to ye land of m' Jo: Herbert on ye poynt of land by Winter harbour," 30: 4: 1656.¶ Mr. Herbert also removed to Southold, and, for ten shillings, conveyed to Mr. Craford his half-acre 30: 4: 1656.¶ The half-acre of John Pride was granted to him by the town 20: 1: 1636. It is described as being "on Winter harbor by their house." Mr. Pride mortgaged to William Waltham of Waymouth, for four pounds, eight shillings and six pence, his house wherein he dwelleth with one and a half acres of ground enclosed "nere Mr. Holgraves stage in winter harbour," 23: 10: 1640.* Mr. Pride had probably bought two half-acre lots, thus making the one and a half acres that he thus conveyed in mortgage. Mr. Craford had probably come into possession of many of the half-acre lots that were granted by the town to various persons. Two of them were probably purchased by Mr. Pride, and the rest by Mr. Craford. These half-acre lots were granted by the town as follows: To Mr. John Holgrave for a house lot without Winter island, 18: 2: 1636; to Mr. John Jackson, Anthony Dike, Mr. Rayment, Pasca Foote, Jn Sibley, Robert Leech, George Williams and Humphrey Woodbury, all at Winter harbor, for fishing trade and to build upon, 16: 11: 1636; to Sergeant Wolfe 14: 6: 1637; to Richard Graves 25: 10: 1637, he promising to follow fishing; to Robert Gooch "nere Winter harbor by his father Holgrave, 1: 11 mo: 1637; to Francis Dent, 24: 12: 1637; Henry Harwood, 26: 9: 1638;† to —— Prior, "upon or neere Winter Harbor," 27: 10: 1638; to John Browne, for a fishing lot near Winter Harbor, 21: 11: 1638; to Hugh Browne, Daniel Jeggles, Joseph Younge, Christopher Younge and Thomas Fryar near about Winter harbor to further their fishing, 4: 12: 1638; to Henry Swan, 11: 12 mo: 1638; to Joseph Kitcherill (or Chicherill), 15: 3: 1639; and to Edmund Tompson, Henry Hayward and William (or, Richard) Moore, for fishing lots 18: 9: 1639. The lot granted to John Jackson of Salem, mariner, was conveyed by him, for nine pounds and ten shillings, to Jeffry

†This lot had been granted to Michael Lambert, "if he inhabithe here," 21: 12: 1637; but he probably failed to come at that time, and the lot was granted to Mr. Harwood.
Massy of Salem, planter, 30:9:1651;* and Mr. Massy probably conveyed it to Mr. Craford. Thomas Chubb, sr., aged about seventy-five, and Jno. Glover, aged about fifty-one, deposed in Salem court Nov. 25, 1684, "that tract of land now in possession of Jno. Higginson Jun'r, upon Salem necke, wereon Jno. Pride deceased formerly lived, was quietly & peaceably possessed & enjoyed by y° sd Jno. Pride & successors, from ye° yeare one thousand, six hundred fifty & two, to ye° yeare one thousand, six hundred, sixty & two, according to ye° law of possession as it is now fenced in excepting ye° six acres of land w'ch was given by ye° towe of Salem, to Mr. Jno. Higgenson, sen'r.† John Pride and Mordecai Craford and the latter's wife Judith, all of Salem, mortgaged all this portion of the lot to Capt. Thomas Savage of Boston, with one dwelling house, barn and all outhouses thereunto belonging with eighteen acres on which the house standeth "on a neck of land in Salem near unto Bass river," the deed being acknowledged Dec. 27, 1661.‡ The mortgage was evidently foreclosed by Captain Savage, who, in consideration of marriage between his daughter Sarah and John Higginson of Salem, merchant, conveyed to them the entire lot Aug. 26, 1675.§ No buildings are mentioned in the deed, but the house may have been standing as late as 1702, for a cottage right is given by the commoners to "John Higginson, esq., for his house on the Neck where [near?] Jno° Abbotts." Mr. Higginson owned the lot until after 1700.

Gilbert Tapley House. That part of this lot northwesterly of the dashes was probably a part of the lot mortgaged by John Pride and Mordecai Craford and the latter's wife Judith to Capt. Thomas Savage of Boston Dec. 27, 1661.† Major Savage, for eight pounds, conveyed this lot being half an acre, "lying in Salem up- on ye neck of land neere Winter harbour enclosed with a stonewall the most part of it," to Gilbert Tapley of Salem, fisherman, Nov. 7, 1677.¶ The executors of the will of Capt. Walter Price, deceased, released this lot to Major Savage Dec. 20, 1677.†

That part of the lot lying southeasterly of the dashes and the house thereon were the property of Mordecai Craford before Oct. 15, 1677, when Henry Bartholmew of Salem conveyed to Gilbert Tapley of Salem, fisherman, "a dwelling house with all ye ground adjoining to ye sd house which formerly was the house & ground of Mordecai Craford, in Salem, near ye causeway going over to Winter Island."¶ Mr. Tapley became a shoreman, and died possessed of the house and lot in 1714. He had apparently erected another house upon the lot, as the inventory of his estate mentions " a dwelling house & small dwelling house a little barn and about an acre of land," valued at one hundred pounds. Mr. Tapley's administrator, for one hundred pounds, conveyed the lot and the house that then stood upon it to Capt. John Abbott of Salem, shoreman, Feb. 14, 1714-5.§ One of the houses was destroyed or removed, apparently, in 1714. Captain Abbott conveyed the house and lot, then called three-fourths of an acre, for eighty pounds, to Benjamin Ives of Salem, merchant, Aug. 16, 1738.‖ Mr. Ives became a tanner, and died in the summer of 1752, possessed of the land, but the house was gone.

John Higginson and Sarah Higginson House. This lot was conveyed by the executors of Capt. Walter Price (who died June 5, 1674) to Maj. Thomas Savage of Boston, merchant, Dec. 20, 1677.† The lot then had a stonewall around it on the land side. Major Savage built a house upon the lot, and died possessed of the estate in 1682. In his will he gave to his daughter Sarah, wife of John Higginson of Salem, merchant, two hundred pounds in money or all of his real estate in Salem, at her election. She chose the real estate, and his executors conveyed the same to Mr. and Mrs. Higginson, including this lot and the house thereon, Aug. 18, 1683.* John Massey of Salem, husbandman, evidently had some interest in the lot, being perhaps the original owner, and he released it to the executors of Capt. John Price, deceased, March 7, 1683-4.† Mrs. Higginson died June 24, 1713, and Mr. Higginson March 23, 1720. The surviving executor of the will of Mr. Higginson, for three hundred pounds, conveyed the lot and buildings thereon to George Daland of Salem, cordwainer, Dec. 1, 1727,‡ and on the same day Mr. Daland conveyed the same estate, for a similar consideration, to John Higginson of Salem, shopkeeper, son and surviving executor of the deceased John Higginson.§ Mr. Higginson conveyed the lot to Benjamin Ives of Salem, tanner, the house being gone, April 8, 1730.|| Writing in September, 1791, Dr. William Bentley mentioned the site of this house as follows: "On Winter Island, near the causeway is a mound of earth round which I traced stones set in the earth, and on each side hollows, that to the eastward being evidently a cellar, and the other artificial that's smaller, and both joining in a line the mound, which is now nearly two feet above the stones. . . . I find by digging that it was a very large house, and that the heap, which lay so high above the ancient method of putting in foundations, is a heap of earth and stones, with the old bricks and rubbish of which a large stack of chimneys was made."¶

The Fort. This fortification was established in or before 1643. In 1644, Capt. Thomas Breadcake was permitted by the general court to take two small guns from "Winter Island by Salem" for his cruise against Turkish pirates. In 1652, the general court gave one hundred pounds towards the fort. At a town meeting held 17:3:1655, "Its: Ordered that the fort vpon winter [Iland] shall be finished with all speed: Mr: Corwin[e:] Leift: Lawthrophy: Edmo: Battor: ar apoynted [to] order the work aboue the forte together with those form[y]ly apoynted. Its: Ordered yt: the Iland where the [fort] is: is appropriaite for the vse and [ ] of the mauintaineing the fort. Its Ordered yt those men apoynted for the ordering of the fort: haue power to warne men to work abou[te] the forte to the finishinge of it, accordinge to the pport[ion] of each mans Rate: and vpon the neglecte of any [ ] the penalty of 3$: p day accordinge to a [for]mer order to be desrayned vpon them." In 1666, every male in the town above the age of sixteen years was required to take his turn in working upon the fort; and the town spent three hundred and twenty pounds. The next year it was ordered "that the great guns be carried to the fort with speed." In 1673, it was repaired, the "great artillery got ready for use, and all else done as this juncture requires," as there was apprehension of hostile movements by the Dutch. In 1690, it was again repaired and eleven great guns and ammunition were brought to the town. In 1699, it was known as Fort William, in honor of the king.

In 1706, there was a serious dispute between the house and the governor and council because the latter had paid the men in the fort without consulting the house. In 1794, after the Revolution, the fort was ceded to the United States, and Oct. 30, 1799, the royal name it had borne for a hundred years was changed to that of Fort Pickering, in honor of Timothy Pickering. The fort had just been rebuilt under the superintendence of Jonathan Waldo of Salem, an apothecary; and it was thought to be in some respects a model fortification, especially on account of semi-circular stone carriage-ways on which the guns were worked. On that day, which was the 64th birthday of Pres. John Adams, "At 12 o'clock the company marched to an eminence near the fort, where the superintendent of the works, agreeable to the direction of the secretary of war, made proclamation under a federal discharge of artillery that the fortress of the United States formerly called Fort William was from that day forward to bear the name of Fort Pickering. The company then repaired to Captain Felt's where they dined. A number of toasts appropriate for the occasion were given; and they concluded the day with the decent regularity of citizen soldiers."

The fort was garrisoned soon after it was built, and also in the time of the Dutch troubles, during the war with the French and Indians and in the war of 1812. There was a brick garrison house and barracks within its stone walls, its garrison consisting of a single sergeant, the last being Sergeant Cahoon. This was just before the war of the Rebellion.

The last reconstruction of this ancient fortification was during the war of the Rebellion in 1863, when a conflict with England seemed likely to grow out of the Mason-Slidell affair. The old fort was then demolished and new and more extensive works were constructed, with bombproofs, magazines, a ditch, platforms for heavy guns and a line of earthworks in the rear extending across the island.

Ezekiel Waters Lot. This point of land belonged to Robert Follett in 1659, when he had a house upon it. He also owned it in 1669. It was owned by Ezekiel Waters in 1700. How long the house stood after 1659 is not known.

Ezekiel Waters House. This lot was a part of that conveyed by John Ormes of Salem, carpenter, to Robert Follett of Salem, with the house thereon, May 24, 1659.* Mr. Follett conveyed the lot, the house being gone, to Richard Waters of Salem, gunsmith, April 9, 1669.* Mr. Waters erected a new house upon the lot in 1671; and before it was finished conveyed the eastern half of it and that part of the lot to his son Ezekiel Waters, for his services to the father and mother to that time, Oct. 24, 1671.† Richard Waters died possessed of the western half of the house and that part of the lot in 1677. It was then appraised at seventy pounds. In his will he devised his estate to his wife Rejoice for her life with power to sell and convey it. In her "old age," she conveyed the part of the house that was devised to her by her husband and that part of the lot, being the western portions of the house and lot, to her son, Ezekiel Waters, Oct. 20, 1687.‡ There were also upon the lot and conveyed with the same a brewhouse and well. Thus Ezekiel Waters became the owner of the entire homestead. Widows Elizabeth McMarr and Martha Coats, both of Salem, conveyed one third of the land and buildings to Nathaniel Andrew of Salem, merchant, March 19, 1742.§ Sarah Felter and Joanna Felter, both of Boston, spinsters, granddaughters of Ezekiel Waters, conveyed their interest to Mr. Andrew March 21, 1742.|| Widow Rejoice Bullock of Boston and Priscilla Waters of Boston, single woman, conveyed their interest to Mr. Andrew on the same day.||| The house was gone before the death of Mr. Andrew, which occurred Feb. 4, 1762.

This little settlement was called Watertown (or Waters' town) early in the eighteenth century.

Abigail Punchard House. This was a part of the lot that was conveyed by John Ormes of Salem, carpenter, to Robert Follett of Salem May 24, 1659. Mr. Follett conveyed the lot to Richard Waters of Salem, gunsmith, April 9, 1669.*

Mr. Waters conveyed this part of his homestead to his daughter Abigail, wife of William Punchard, who had just erected a house thereon, 4:7:1671. The house was standing in 1702, when it was in his possession, and was gone in 1742, while the title to the lot was in their children.

Hannah Striker Lot. This was a part of the lot that was conveyed by John Ormes of Salem, carpenter, to Robert Follett of Salem May 24, 1659. Mr. Follett conveyed the lot to Richard Waters of Salem, gunsmith, April 9, 1669. Mr. Waters conveyed this lot to his daughter Hannah, wife of Joseph Striker, Oct. 26, 1675. The lot apparently belonged to Mr. Striker in 1700.

Mary Stephens House. This was a part of the lot that was conveyed by John Ormes of Salem, carpenter, to Robert Follett of Salem, merchant, May 24, 1659. Mr. Follett immediately built a small house thereon, and, for ten pounds, conveyed the house and lot to his grandson, William Herbert of Salem, mariner, April 29, 1703. Mr. Herbert died possessed of the house and lot before 1732, when two at least of his children were William and Benjamin. The house was gone before Jan. 20, 1761, when Capt. Benjamin Herbert died possessed of the lot, the house being gone.

Philip English House. That part of this lot lying north of the northern dashes belonged to Humphrey Woodbury in 1669. It subsequently belonged to Robert Codnam; and later was the property of Edward Wilson of Salem, ship-carpenter. The latter removed to Fairfield, Conn., before Jan. 24, 1679, when he conveyed this part of the lot, for nine pounds, to Benjamin Browne of Salem, merchant. Mr. Browne conveyed it to Philip English of Salem, mariner, Feb. 9, 1679-80. There was a house upon this lot before 1661, but it was not subsequently mentioned.

The remainder of the lot belonged to Richard Hollingsworth of Salem, mariner, in 1672.

The lot marked "A" was conveyed by Capt. John Corwine to Philip Cromwell of Salem; and Mr. Cromwell died possessed of the lot March 30, 1693. His executor conveyed it to Philip English of Salem, merchant, Nov. 10, 1697.

The lot marked "B" was set off to Philip English on execution against Mr. Hollingsworth 15:3:1675. This was then part of an orchard.

IPSWICH COURT RECORDS AND FILES.

Court, 25: i: 1651.

Judges: John Endicot, esquire, dep.-gov., Mr. Symon Broadstreet and Mr. Samuell Symonds.

Robert Crose v. Cornelious Waldo. Slander. Judgment for plaintiff, £6; defendant to make such acknowledgment as the court shall appoint in the meeting-house at Ipswich on some lecture day within three weeks, or to pay £4 more.

John Chator v. Nathaniel Wire. For detaining a beast. ["Brother Wier's letter from — — about a writing Mr. Endicote had of you," etc., about the ear mark. Christopher Bartlet testified in reference to arbitration, and to going to the steer with Goodman Wire and another, laying the ear upon a piece of paper and marking it out with a pen, and also that the ear was cut. Sworn in Ipswich court, 25: 1: 1651. John Davis deposed about a strange steer being at his house, which he cried in the meeting-house; that Goodman Wier came to see whether it was his, and he said it was not; that John Chator came to "my house" to see it four days afterward, said it was his, Chator carried it to his (Chator's) house and he has got it still. Archelaus Woodman deposed as to the mark. John Knight testified that, being in Goodman Wire's yard upon a lecture day, Goodman Adams came, saying he was come to see the steer, which was a little black one; Wire asked him whether it was Goodman John Chater's; he answered, "No; but my children know him better than I." John Emery, sr., deposed that the six arbitrators asked Goodman Roper, who new ear-marked the steer. He said he did not. He said, "I sold the steer to Will Titcombe, and John Chater claimed it by reason of the ear-mark." Goodman Roper said he cut it deeper to make it plainer. Robert Adams testified that he sold the steer to Goodman Chater; and his daughter Joane Adams, aged above seventeen years, testified the same. Richard Browne testified about the steer. Edmund Moores testified that he was asked to go to Goodman Adams, house to see the steer, etc. Francis Browne testified that he believes the steer to be Chater's. John Trewman testified that the steer John Cheter bought of Goodman Adams was delivered to me, that I kept it six weeks, and that this is not the steer. John Bartlet testified that he was about to buy John Cheter's steer, but this was not it. The plaintiff demanded the steer in custody of Nathaniel Wyer on the testimony of Archelaus Woodman and of the above named Robert and Joan Adams and of Abraham Adams, aged about ten years, daughter and son of said Robert Adams.—Files.]

Edward Clarke v. Jo: Newman. [Richard Kembell, jr., deposed that John Newman came to him about the middle of this winter and said that he would hire a pair of oxen for Edward Clark, though they cost him three pounds. Wilm Whiteridg deposed that he was present in the company of Edward Clarke, John Newman, Henery Kemball and Thomas Whiteridg about last Michelemesse time; John Newman spoke to Edward Clarke of two oxen which Clarke had hired of him, etc.; and Newman would have Clark go to Roger Lankton about the oxen. Thomas Newman testified that he came "to my Brother John" and said that the oxen had been let to Edward Clark; sworn 30: 11: 1650, before Samuel Symonds. Thomas Kimball testified that he heard John Newman say that Edward Clark

Daniell Roffe testified that he heard Joseph Muzi say he never spoke the words, but the witness spake falsely; and another time I heard him say he would rather my brother would be quiet, but if he would come to the court he should make yet appear to be true of what he had said: he thought he were better they did not go to the court, but if they did it would be to his disgrace as to me; also, that my brother Bradstreett and I being at Goodman Cross', the latter said I believe Joseph Muzi is a lying fellow and the cause of the breaches between John Bradstreett and myself. Sworn to in John Remington deposed that last hay-time twelve month, being with the late deceased Goodman Cross, I had much discourse with him about John Bradstreett, and he gave John good commendation, saying that he bore great love towards him in so much that he could willingly have bestowed his daughter on him to wife if he carried himself well; their farms lay togethre; also, he commended him for minding good things and loved him well until he heard a report raised by Joseph Muzie against him, concerning himself and others, which did exceedingly inc-cense Goodman Cross against said John,
and altered his mind towards him, etc.

ESSEX COUNTY MEN AT MARTHA'S VINEYARD BEFORE 1700.

By Dr. Charles E. Banks.

The Island of Martha's Vineyard, a history of which I have been preparing in the last ten years, is a neglected quantity in the field of New England genealogy. Many "disappearances" of settlers on the main can be traced thither. Below I give a list of early residents of the Vineyard during the seventeenth century who went from various towns in Essex county and became prominently identified with the island county. The interrogation point (?) following several of the names indicates doubtful identity with persons of the same name known to have been of Essex county prior to their appearance at the Vineyard. I shall be glad to exchange information relative to each of these persons, particularly Edward Searle, Richard Arey, George Martin, Peter Jenkins and Philip Watson. The latter's son Elias may serve to identify him. The asterisk (*) shows that descendants still reside on the Vineyard.

Salem: John Pease,* Robert Codman, Edward Searle.

Wenham: Francis Usselton.

Salisbury: George Martin (?), Edward Cottle,* Samuel Bickford.

Rowley: Peter Jenkins,* Philip Watson (?).

Lynn: Samuel Tilton,* Thomas Look.*

Haverhill: Joseph Merry.*

Gloucester: Richard Arey* (?).

THE LAND BANK.

In the earliest days of our colonial history we had little currency,—only that which had been incidentally brought across the water; and wampum, the shell money of the Indians, and articles of merchandise were used instead of money; as, for instance, in 1630, Sir Richard Saltonstall was fined four bushels of malt for absence from court; and the next year the Indian Chickataubott was fined a beaverskin for shooting a swine of Sir Richard.

In 1652, the colony took charge of the coinage of money, ordering John Hull, whom it appointed mint-master, to produce silver shillings, six-pences and three-pence, and making them legal tender. Any one having silver bullion could have it coined upon payment of the actual expense of coinage.

The money then coined was in amount too small to perceptibly increase the quantity in circulation; and in 1658 more two-pence were ordered to be coined of the first silver bullion that came to the hands of the mint-master.

These unmistakable acts of sovereignty were in ill-repute with the English government.

While the mint was endangered by threats of its abolition, the question of establishing a bank, by men of known financial credit, who should issue bills, was discussed; and in 1686 such a bank was in actual operation in Boston. It probably continued through Andros' administration.

The privilege of coining money being no longer allowed to the colonial government by Great Britain, the colonists issued some paper money in 1690. The credit of the colony was poor, and the people were afraid to receive the bills. The situation was little improved by their issue. It was tried again in 1702, with the same result.

A private bank based on real estate security was contemplated soon afterward, to be known as the Land Bank, from the character of its security, but the project came to an end in 1714.

The province continued to issue large amounts of paper money, which was almost worthless, and useless as a medium of exchange.

In 1740, a bank of the same character as the proposed Land Bank was established in Boston, holding its meetings for business at various places, Boston, Lynn, etc. It was called the Manufactory company.

The bills issued were redeemable in twenty years; and were issued to the partners, as the shareholders were called, upon the delivery of a mortgage of real estate conditioned to pay the face value of the bills they received in twenty years, in annual instalments of five per cent of the amount issued to them, and three per cent annual interest.

The directors were Robert Auchmuty, esq., of Roxbury, Samuel Adams, esq. (father of the patriot), William Stoddard, esq., Peter Chardon, merchant, all of Boston, Samuel Watts, esq., of Chelsea, George Leonard, esq., of Norton, Robert Hale. esq., of Beverly, John Choate, esq., of Ipswich, and Thomas Cheever, gentleman, of Lynn.

The partners' mortgages were payable to the directors, and were all issued on a printed blank dated Sept. 9, 1740. It would seem that a large proportion of the stockholders were of Essex county. The registry of deeds at Salem show that forty-seven of these mortgages were recorded, and there are on file there thirty-three more that were not recorded, probably because the general court annulled the bank before they could be copied into the record books. The names, residences and occupation of these Essex county stockholders, and the amounts they respectively subscribed, are as follows: Ebenezer Walcott, yeoman, of Andover; John Dodge, jr., mason, of Beverly; John Baker, yeoman, of Boston; Josiah Chandler, innholder, of Bradford; Benjamin Davis, yeoman, John Millet, yeoman, Eleazer Parsons, John Parsons, yeoman, Dr. David Plummer, John Sargent, yeoman, David Stanwood, esq., James Stanwood, husbandman, Rev. John White, Humphrey Woodberry, yeoman, Ezekiel Woodward, jr., yeoman, and Thomas York, yeoman, all of Gloucester; Abner Kimball, coaster, of Haverhill; John Boardman, gentleman, John Brown, jr., yeoman, Andrew Burley, esq., Francis Choate, jr., gentleman, Thomas Choate, jr., gentleman, Parker Dodge, Benjamin Dutch, Joseph Fowler, gentleman, Benjamin Gilbert, Joseph Gilbert, yeoman, Ebenezer Knowlton, yeoman, John Whipple, jr., gentleman, Ami Ruhamah Wise, esq., and Daniel Wise, shopkeeper, all of Ipswich; Thomas Baker, yeoman, Thomas Cheever, gentleman, Robert Edmonds, yeoman, Thomas Fuller, currier, Elkanah Hawks, yeoman, John Hawks, jr., yeoman, John Hawkes, 3d, 3d tanner, Moses Hawks, yeoman, Daniel Hitchins, yeoman, John Jencks, blacksmith, Nathan Jenks, blacksmith, Samuel Jenckes, blacksmith Richard Mower, gentleman, Francis Norwood, blacksmith, David Townsend, yeoman, Jonathan Wayt, yeoman, Benjamin Wiley, jr., yeoman, and Benjamin Wiley, jr., yeoman, all of Lynn; John Hill, yeoman, John Knights, yeoman, Joseph Knights, yeoman, and Samuel Morgan, yeoman, all of Manchester; Edward Clark, yeoman, Jonathan Corlis, yeoman, Abiel Kelley, jr., yeoman, and Richard Kelley, yeoman, all of Methuen; David Wilkins, yeoman, of Middleton; Stephen Ordway, yeoman, Bartholomew Pearson, millwright, and Jonathan Pearson, clothier, all of Newbury; William Adams, Nathaniel Mighill and Amos Pilsbury, yeomen, all of Rowley; Eleazer Brown, yeoman, Joshua Buffum, yeoman, Benjamin Creesy, wheelwright, Joseph Creesy, yeoman, Daniel Gardner, gentleman, John Gardner, yeoman, David Goldthwait, yeoman, Capt. Benjamin Ives, merchant, Samuel Manning, gunsmith, Israel Porter, jr., yeoman, John Porter, yeoman, John Procter, yeoman, and Henry Putnam, yeoman, all of Salem; Israel Webster, yeoman, and Stephen Webster, shipwright, both of Salisbury; Thomas Baker, yeoman, and Richard Towns, yeoman, both of Topsfield; and John Kimball, yeoman, and John White, yeoman, both of Wenham. These amount in all to eleven thousand and six hundred pounds.

Though forbidden by the general court some of these bills were circulated. Their entire suppression was sought but differences existed as to means.

Governor Belcher, threatened to dismiss from office all persons holding commissions under his hand who had anything to do with the issue of paper money by this private bank. Believing that the good of the country depended upon this money, many patriotically resigned their commissions, among them being John Choate of Ipswich and Dr. Robert Hale of Beverly, two of the directors of this bank.
There threatened a popular uprising against Governor Belcher and the council for opposing the bank scheme. Rev. Jonathan White of Gloucester wrote to the governor, apologizing for promoting it. The representatives favored it, and successfully sought the governor's removal.

In 1741, a company formed in Essex county applied to the general court, John Choate of Ipswich heading the petition, for authority to issue notes to the amount of fifty thousand pounds on land securities. They were not, however, encouraged to proceed, though they had engaged an engraver, and indeed printed some of their bills, which were probably never circulated. There are only three of these known to the writer to be in existence, one at Portland, and the others in the Essex Institute at Salem. The headquarters of the company was at Ipswich. The form of the bill is shown in the frontispiece of this number of The Antiquarian.

THE OLD HYMNS.

There's lot o' music in 'em, the hymns of long ago,
An' when some gray-haired brother sings the ones
I used to know,
I sorter want to take a hand—I think o' days gone by,
"On Jordan's stormy banks I stand and cast a wistful eye."

There's lots of music in 'em—those dear, sweet hymns of old,
With visions bright of lands of light and shining streets of gold;
And I hear 'em ringing—singing, where Mem'ry
dreaming stands,
"From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands."
They seem to sing forever of holier, sweeter days,
When the lillies of the love of God bloomed white in all the ways;
And I want to hear their music from the old-time meetin's rise,
Till "I can read my title clear to mansions in the skies."

We never needed singin' books in them old days; we knew
The words—the tunes of every one the dear old hymn book through!
We didn't have no trumpets then—no organs built for show;
We only sang to praise the Lord "from whom all blessings flow."

An' so I love the old hymns, and when my time shall come—
Before the light has left me and my singing lips are dumb—
If I can only hear 'em then, I'll pass without a sigh
"To Canaan's fair and happy land, where my possessions lie!"

VITAL RECORDS OF BOXFORD, MASS. Topsfield, 1905. The Topsfield Historical Society has compiled and published the vital records of the town of Boxford before 1850, under the statute of the state to promote such undertakings. The record includes, in addition to the town records of births, marriages and deaths, the intentions of marriages, and records from many other sources, viz: gravestone inscriptions, church records (which contain many baptisms of children, whose births are not recorded on the town records, besides marriages and deaths), family Bibles, private records, journals, etc. These records make a volume of two hundred and seventy-four pages, which will be sent by mail, postpaid, by The Topsfield Historical Society, Topsfield, Mass., for $2.90.

A HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES AND ITS PEOPLE from their earliest records to the present time. By Elroy McKenndree Avery. Cleveland, O., 1904. This is the first volume of the twelve that will compose Doctor Avery's work of a score of years. He states that the style and method is midway between "a cold intellectualism that seems to be heading straight for the poverty and decay that must always follow the separation of the brain from the heart" and "a popular taste that is daily accommodating itself to an aesthetic and intellectual pabulum that would have seemed to our forefathers, at best, a sad waste of time;" in other words that he has "tried to meet the wants of men and women of general culture." Therefore foot notes and authorities are not given, and the matter is presented simply and concisely, with little attempt apparently at literary style.

As this volume, which is the only one of the work that has appeared, merely comes down to the year 1588, a reviewer cannot inform himself as to the author's treatment of the settlement of the country by the English and its evolution and development; and therefore must be contented for the present with the account of the history of the aborigines and the early discoveries.

The story of both the paleolithic and neolithic peoples here is interestingly written; and the myths and superstitions of the centuries prior to the eighteenth are presented in a separate chapter. The voyages of the Northmen are illustrated, among other things, by a facsimile copy of a saga manuscript. More than a quarter part of the volume is devoted to Columbus and his voyages; and a similar space to Cabot, Da Gama, Vespuccius, Balboa, Magellan, Cortes, Ponce de Leon, Las Casas, Ayllon, Verrazano, Gomez, Narvaez, De Vaca, De Soto, Coronado, Cartier, Ribault, Laudonniere, De Gourgues, Hawkins, Drake, Cavendish, Gilbert, Raleigh, etc.

The bibliography relative to the different subjects treated is given in the appendix, and is a valuable part of the work.

This volume contains 405 octavo pages, and is finely printed on calendered heavy paper. Many of the maps are colored and the illustrations are greatly diversified as to subject, and numerous, being nearly two hundred, mostly small. Among the folded maps is a reduced colored reproduction of the ox-hide map of Juan de la Cosa, made in 1500, being the oldest known American map.

The mechanical execution of the volume is ideal, artistic in design as well as beautiful in its production.

The price in cloth is $6.25 net; in half levant, $12.50 net; and in full levant, $17.50 net. The publishers are The Burrows Brothers Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

THE OLD BRIDGE.

BY SUSAN HARTLEY SWETT.

When morning sets the world astir, And footsteps echo merrily, No traveller crosses the old bridge Save only Memory and me, And the light-footed breeze, that goes Swift journeys, whither no one knows.

No longer, now, high piled with grain, The farm-carts toward the grist-mill pas; No longer, now, the farm-hand goes To woo at eve the miller's lass. Deserted, even on market day, The old bridge stands, forlorn and gray.

There is no spot in all the land Where lies so thick the mold of years; Young spring may trim the willow boughs That lean against its mossy piers, And hang a bluebell by the sill, But all seems old and haunted still.
SALEM IN 1700. NO. 21.

BY SIDNEY PERLEY.

The map on page 164 represents that part of Salem which is bounded by Essex street, Collins cove, the harbor and English street. It is based on actual surveys and title deeds, and is drawn on a scale of two hundred feet to an inch. It shows the location of all houses that were standing there in 1700. The braces marked "a" show where Derby street now runs, "b" where Webb street begins, and "c" where Allen street begins.

Collins cove was first called A cove that branches in out of ye North river in 1660; the great cove, 1678; ye seaor river, 1695; and Collins cove in 1791, by which name it has since been called.

English street was laid out about 1698 by Philip English and others. It was called English lane, 1748; and English street since 1799.

Webb street was laid out about 1800, and was called a highway leading from Derby street to Essex street, 1801; and Webb street since 1810.

Allen street was laid out about 1800. It was called the new highway leading from English street to Webb street in 1801; new road leading from English street easterly, 1803; and Allen street since 1810.

In the sketches that follow, after 1700, titles and deeds referred to pertain to the houses and land under and adjoining and not always to the whole lot, the design being, after that date, to give the history of the houses then standing principally.

Eleazer Moses House. Thomas Sollas of Salem, fisherman, owned this lot and erected a dwelling house thereon before Oct. 24, 1661, when, for twenty pounds, he conveyed the lot and house to Henry Moses of Salem, seaman.* Mr. Moses died in 1685. The house was standing in 1667, was called an "old house" in 1685; and was gone in 1702. At the decease of Mr. Moses, the estate came into the possession of his son Capt. Eleazer Moses of Salem, mariner, who owned the lot until 1713.

Estate of Ebenezer Collins Lot. Thomas Sollas of Salem, fisherman, conveyed this lot to Henry Moses of Salem, seaman, Oct. 24, 1661.* Mr. Moses conveyed it to John Collins, jr., of Gloucester Sept. 2, 1669.† Mr. Collins built a house upon the lot, and died possessed of the estate in 1677, when the house and land were valued at twenty-five pounds. The estate passed to his son Ebenezer Collins, who lived in Bilboa, Spain, being a mariner, at the time of his death, in the winter of 1696-7. Apparently he was recently married, and had no child at the time of his decease, but one was afterwards born, named Ebenezer, who took the lot under the will as well as by inheritance. The house was probably gone before 1700. This Ebenezer, son of Ebenezer Collins of Bilboa, lived in Gloucester, being a cordwainer, and owned the lot until 1746.

Obad Carter House. This lot was the property of John Beckett of Salem, shipwright, as early as 1653, being a pasture of about one and one-half acres. He conveyed it, for sixty pounds, to William Browne, jr., of Salem, merchant, March 25, 1663;* and Mr. Browne conveyed it to Joseph Phippen of Salem July 8, 1667.† Mr. Phippen had just come from Boston; and upon this lot he erected a dwelling house, in which he lived. He died in 1697, having devised this house and lot to his sons David, Samuel and Joseph Phippen, all of Salem. David was a shipwright, Samuel, a blockmaker, and Joseph, a fisherman. Joseph was the oldest, and to him the others released their interest in the estate Jan. 15, 1694-5.‡ Joseph Phippen, for ninety-four pounds, conveyed the house and lot and wharf to Obad Carter of Salem, fisherman, Dec. 8, 1696.§ Mr. Carter died in 1720; and the house and lot were appraised at one hundred pounds. The estate was divided in 1726, the western half of the house and lot being assigned to Elizabeth, wife of Benjamin Woodbery of Beverly, yeoman, and the eastern half to Mary, wife of Josiah Lee of Manchester, cooper, daughters of the deceased. Mr. and Mrs. Woodbery, for forty-seven pounds, conveyed their part of the premises to Richard Elvins of Salem, baker, March 12, 1728-9;|| and Mr. and Mrs. Lee, for thirty-seven pounds, conveyed their part to Mr. Elkins Sept. 15, 1729.¶

For one hundred and ten pounds, Mr. Elvins conveyed the house and lot to Benjamin Ives of Salem, gentleman, Jan. 14, 1733. The house was gone before 1752, when Captain Ives died, possessed of the lot.

Edward Hilliard House. William Cockrell dwelt in the eastern part of this house before Nov. 11, 1651, when Thomas Rix of Salem, barber, for nine pounds, conveyed that part of the house and lot lying east of the dashes to David Tammus [Thomas], John Stone and Robert Stone.† The three owners, for nine pounds and ten shillings, conveyed the same estate to Robert Salloes of Salem 4:12 mo:1652:¶ and, for a similar consideration, Mr. Salloes (Sollas) conveyed it to Edward Hilliard of Salem Oct. 20, 1653.

The western half of the house and lot belonged to Mr. Hilliard in 1653, but no deed was passed apparently until Oct. 26, 1657, when Richard Hide of Salem, carpenter, conveyed that part of the estate to him.§ Edward Hilliard died in 1706, having devised this, his homestead, to his wife Martha, for her life, and remainder to their children. There were then upon the lot besides the dwelling house, a barn and work house, and the land and buildings were appraised at one hundred pounds. His widow, Martha Hilliard, of Salem, under power in his will, conveyed the entire estate to their only surviving son, Joseph Hilliard of Salem, mariner, upon condition that he support her for life, Dec. 6, 1706.|| Mr. Hilliard became a rope maker and died in the winter of 1745-6, having devised this estate to his wife Rachel for her life and then to his sons Edward and David Hilliard and his daughter Rachel, wife of Paul Kimball, currier. The estate was then valued at seventy-five pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Kimball, for one hundred and sixty pounds, conveyed their interest in the estate to her brothers Edward and David Hilliard, both of Salem, rope makers, April 12, 1749; and David Hilliard conveyed his part of the estate to his brother Edward Hilliard, for eighty-seven pounds, eleven shillings and four pence, Oct. 28, 1752.

With the land were conveyed the dwelling house, wharf, rope walk or long house, kettle, fore-locks, wheels and belts. Edward Hilliard, for one hundred and eighty-six pounds, thirteen shillings and four pence, conveyed the dwelling house, rope walk, wharf, etc., and the land to Richard Derby of Salem, merchant, Nov. 20, 1752. Mr. Derby, for one hundred and eighty-six pounds, thirteen shillings and four pence, conveyed the same estate to Clifford Crowinshield of Salem, merchant, Jan. 23, 1753. Mr. Crowinshield died possessed of the land April 4, 1776, but the house was gone.

John Carter Lot. This land belonged to Edward Hilliard of Salem in 1653, but no deed was passed apparently until Oct. 26, 1657, when Richard Hide of Salem, carpenter, conveyed it to him. Mr. Hilliard conveyed the lot to his son-in-law John Carter of Salem, mariner, Oct. 29, 1690; and it belonged to Mr. Carter in 1700.

William Peters House. This lot of land belonged to Edward Hilliard of Salem, mariner, as early as 1653, but no deed was passed apparently until Oct. 26, 1657, when Richard Hide of Salem, carpenter, conveyed it to him. Mr. Hilliard gave it to his son-in-law Gilbert Peters, presumably about 1673, and the latter built a small house upon it. Oct. 23, 1684, Mr. Peters reconveyed the lot to Mr. Hilliard. Mr. Peters died about 1691; and Mr. Hilliard conveyed the house and lot to his grandson William Peters of Salem, mariner (son of Gilbert Peters), Aug. 13, 1697.

Samuel Gardner House. This was part of the lot of land that was conveyed by Andrew Woodbury of Salem, mariner, to Walter Whitfield (Whitford) of Salem, fisherman, Oct. 12, 1668. John Webb of Salem, fisherman, built a house upon this lot, and Mr. Whitford and himself, for eleven pounds conveyed the house and lot to Samuel Gardner, Jr., of Salem June 27, 1687. Mr. Gardner, for four pounds, conveyed the same estate to John Webb of Salem, fisherman, Dec. 10, 1717. Mr. Webb owned the lot some years, but how long the house stood after this date is unknown.

John Whitford House. This lot and the house thereon were conveyed by Andrew Woodbury of Salem, mariner, to Walter Whitfield (Whitford) of Salem, fisherman, Oct. 12, 1668; and he died possessed of it in 1692. The estate apparently descended to his son (?) John Whitford of Salem, mariner, who died before 1732, intestate. His daughter Elizabeth, wife of Joseph Diamond of Salem, fisherman, for ten pounds, conveyed her interest in the estate to her brother Samuel Whitford of Salem, fisherman, Feb. 13, 1732; and her sister Mary, wife of John Hanks, Jr. of Salem, husbandman, for twelve pounds, conveyed her interest to her brother Samuel Whitford Nov. 9, 1733. How much longer the house stood is unknown.

Thomas Searle House. This lot and dwelling house thereon were owned by Mathew Nixon of Salem, fisherman, in 1660. He conveyed the lot and house, for thirty-five pounds, to Thomas Searle of Salem Nov. 14, 1670.

||Essex Registry of Deeds, book 1, leaf 76.

apparently an oven on the outside of the house. Ovens were sometimes built this way, the only objection being that they were too tempting to lovers of baked beans, brown bread and Indian pudding. They were sometimes opened during Saturday night, and the contents purloined. The date of Mr. Searle's death is unknown, but it was probably some years after 1700. The family owned the lot until 1731, but the house was then gone, and the lot and the "bricks standing" on the land were conveyed at the time.*

Thomas Searle Lot. This lot was owned by Mathew Nixon of Salem, fisherman, in 1660. This small piece of land, which measured only twenty-five by thirty-seven feet, was purchased of Mr. Nixon, for the few apple trees standing thereon, being a part of Mr. Nixon's orchard, by Thomas Searle of Salem, Nov. 14, 1670.† A right of way to the highway was granted in the deed, lying easterly of the dotted lines. Mr. Searle died possessed of the lot sometime after 1700.

John Whitford House. This lot was owned by Mathew Nixon of Salem, fisherman, as early as 1660, and he built a house thereon, in which he lived in 1679, having a right of way to the highway easterly of the dotted lines. Dec. 16, 1678, for his life support, he conveyed the house and lot, orchard, garden and paved yard to Walter Whitford of Salem, fisherman, and the latter's wife Bridget.‡ Mr. Whitford died in 1692, possessed of the estate; and apparently it descended to his son (?) John Whitford of Salem, mariner, the house being gone before 1732.

John Jerman House. This lot was owned by Robert Lemon of Salem in 1659, and he built a house upon it after 1661. He died possessed of the house and lot in 1667, when the estate was valued at ninety pounds. He then had an orchard. 13:9:1674, when the estate was valued at eighty pounds, his widow, Mary Lemon, and children, Sara, wife of Charles Knights, and Hannah, wife of Samuel Beadle, divided the estate, one half of the house and land and the barn being assigned to the widow and the other half of the house and land to Charles Knights in right of his wife.* Mr. Knights lived in Salem being a carpenter, and came into possession of the entire lot before 1685. He conveyed that part of the lot lying north of the dashes to Timothy Lindall of Salem June 29, 1685.† Five months later, that part of the lot was in the tenure of Philip Cromwell, and it was probably owned by —— Curwin subsequently. Shortly afterward it was owned by John Jerman of Salem, mariner, before Nov. 6, 1686, when Mr. Knights conveyed to him the house and remainder of the lot.‡ At that time there was a wharf at the water side. John Jerman owned the house and lot in 1702, and some years later the land came into the possession of Samuel Whitford, but the house probably stood but a few years after 1702.

Philip English House. Joseph Younges of Salem, mariner, owned this lot and house in 1649, when the house was occupied by William Curtis. Mr. Younges conveyed the house and lot to David Curwithen of Salem Sept. 24, 1649;§ and Mr. Curwithen conveyed the same estate to Richard Cortice of Salem Feb. 16, 1659-60.|| Previous to this date Christopher Younges had lived in the house. The estate came into the possession of John Marsh before 1665, and he conveyed it to Mathew Barton of Salem, shipwright, in 1668. Mr. Barton conveyed the house and lot to William Dicer of Salem, fisherman, Aug. 18, 1668.¶ Mr. Dicer removed the house, or it was destroyed, as he erected a new and larger house upon the lot. He removed to Winter Harbor, in the Province of Maine, and, for forty pounds in silver, conveyed the house and lot to Philip English of Salem, merchant, Nov. 12, 1685.* Mr. English died possessed of the house and lot in the winter of 1735-6. In the division of his estate, made in 1742, this lot and house were assigned to his daughter, Mary Brown. The house was then valued at twelve pounds and ten shillings, and the land at about five pounds and ten shillings. The house was standing in 1752, but was gone when she conveyed the land in 1761.

Philip English House. This lot and house were in the possession of David Curwithen of Salem Sept. 24, 1649, when he purchased this estate of Joseph Younges of Salem, mariner.† Mr. Curwithen (or, Corwithin) conveyed the house and lot to William Hollingworth of Salem, mariner, June 16, 1665.‡ He conveyed the estate to his daughter Mary, wife of Philip English before June 1, 1672; and it belonged to Philip English in 1681 and 1685. (John Parker lived here in 1692, probably, when his wife Alice (Hollingworth) was executed as a witch.) Philip English died possessed of this lot, the house being gone, in 1735-6.

Estate of Mary English House (Blue Anchor Tavern). This house and lot were the estate of William Hollingworth before 1661. He mortgaged the estate to Mr. Philip Cromwell of Salem, for two hundred and fifty pounds, June 1, 1672.§ Mr. Hollingworth was lost at sea in 1677; and Mr. Cromwell, who was then a slaughterer, for the amount of the mortgage, conveyed the house and lot to Mr. Hollingworth's widow, Elinor Hollingworth, of Salem, it then being in her possession, March 4, 1681-2.¶ Mrs. Hollingworth is said to have established the business of an innkeeper in this house, which became known as The Blue Anchor Tavern. She conveyed the house and land with the wharf and landing place, to her daughter Mary English Feb. 17, 1684-5;* and died in 1690.

The tavern was probably conducted by her grandson Philip English as soon as he became of age (in 1705). Upon the death of his mother, in 1694, the estate descended to him. He lived in and conducted the tavern when he conveyed the land, house, warehouse and wharf for six hundred pounds, to Richard Derby of Salem, mariner, Feb. 24, 1748.† Mr. Derby took the house down about 1759.

Dr. William Bentley wrote, in 1791, of this house as follows: "At the eastward of English's lane near the water is a store enlarged, but originally built above one hundred years. A few yards above is the large cellar, the stones of which were sold six years since, but the steps remain, over which stood a very large house with peaks as English's below, and which was employed as a tavern by the name of the BLUE ANCHOR. It has been down above forty years and there was a store put over the cellar, which within a few years has been removed into North Fields. Beyond the shore is to be seen the cellar of a house possessed by Mary Brown, the land being since sold to Capt. Richard Derby. On the west side of English's lane, opposite to the tavern, is a cellar upon which stood a house within the memory of the present generation. Beyond Brown's house and Whittord's, which is a house since built, about twenty years, and now standing, is to be seen the cellar of Webb's house, the land being yet in the family. There were three other houses before we came to the group upon the Point of Rocks, and one cellar is now to be seen upon the plain between the Block house ruins and the present enclosure upon the Point. The Blue Anchor was celebrated for Marblehead Campaigns."‡

Doctor Bentley continued, in 1793: "Mary English was the only child of William Hollingworth, who married Eleanor Story, from England. The family lived at the Point of Rocks, and Mary, the accused was born at the Blue Anchor, at the head of English's wharf eastward. The house afterwards a public house, and has been taken down about thirty-three years.*

Phil@English House. This lot belonged to Richard Hollingworth before 1661. There was then a house standing thereon. He gave it to Capt. Robert Starr as a marriage portion when the latter married Mr. Hollingworth's daughter. Mr. Starr lived in the house, and, Sept. 30, 1665, conveyed the estate to guardians of his three minor children, Robert, Richard and Susanna.† This deed was confirmed by the court, 30: 9: 1680, to Richard and Susanna, Robert having died. Richard Starr, who was a cooper, for thirty pounds, conveyed his half of the house and lot to Philip English of Salem, mariner, Jan. 3, 1682-3.‡ Susanna Starr probably conveyed her half to Mr. English about the same time.

Philip English (Phillipe L'Anglois) was born in 1651 in Trinity parish, on the Isle of Jersey, being a French Huguenot and came to Salem before he was of age. He became a merchant, and had so flourished in business that he bought this house and lot, and, taking down the old house, erected on the site a stylish mansion. Its frame of oak is said to have been brought from England. It was a many-gabled structure, with projecting second story and porch. The walls were filled with brick. Down to 1757, it was called "English's great house." In the Witchcraft Delusion, in 1692, both Mr. and Mrs. English were accused of witchcraft and imprisoned in Boston jail, from which they escaped. They made their way to New York, and after the reign of terror had passed returned to their home here. He found that as soon as he had been apprehended, his house was opened, and everything movable became free plunder to the neighbors; and his store houses were more or less plundered. He was bitterly incensed against Sheriff Corwin for his part in the affair. His losses amounted to some two thousand pounds in value. Among other things taken from the house were family portraits. When the house was taken down there was found in the garret a secret room, which was supposed to have been built after their return as a place of temporary concealment in case of a second outbreak of the delusion.

Mr. English died in the winter of 1735-6, and upon the division of the estate in 1742, the northwestern half of the house and land was assigned to his son John English, and the southeastern part to his son Philip English. John English lived in Salem, being a laborer, and, for two hundred pounds, conveyed his part of the house and lot to Joseph Brown of Salem, mariner, Oct. 31, 1749.* Mr. Brown conveyed to his nephew William Brown of Salem, boatman, by declaration of trust, the same part of the house and lot Oct. 19, 1751.† William Brown died before Nov. 12, 1756, when his eldest son Joseph Browne of Salem, mariner, for thirteen pounds, six shillings and eight pence, conveyed one fourth of this part of the house and lot to Mr. Touzell of Salem, goldsmith.‡ Abigail Browne, as widow of William Browne, and guardian of his minor children, Mary, Lydia, William, Abigail, Philip and Sarah Browne, for forty pounds, conveyed three-fourths of the part assigned to John English to Mr. Touzell April 23, 1757.§ Philip English, to whom had been assigned the southeastern part of the house and lot, died in the winter of 1750-1, being insolvent. His widow and administratrix, Mary English, conveyed his part of the house and lot to his brother-in-law, Mr. Touzell, who owned the remainder of the estate July 1, 1751.* Mr. Touzell became a yeoman, and died Aug. 17, 1785, possessed of the land and house, in which he then lived. In his will he devised the northerly part of the house and lot, including the kitchen chamber and one-half of the great porch at the west end of the house, to his sister, widow Susanna Hathorne of Salem, and the southerly part, with the porch chamber and west end of the house, parlour chamber, etc., to his cousin John Touzell Hathorne. Widow Susanna Hathorne died in 1802, having devised her part of the house and lot to her only daughter, Susanna, wife of Samuel Ingersoll. Mrs. Susanna Ingersoll died in 1812, and her interest in the estate descended to her only surviving child, Miss Susanna Ingersoll. John T. Hathorne lived in Salem, being a mariner, and died in 1805, possessed of his part of the house and lot. This part was set off to David Safford of Salem, blacksmith and his wife Dolly, in her right, and was conveyed by them to Miss Ingersoll Nov. 19, 1818.†

The house at length became long tenantless, and deserted, and dangerous to the very tread of man or boy who had the curiosity to explore it. Miss Ingersoll took it down during the week beginning April 29, 1833.

Dr. William Bentley wrote of the old house, Friday, April 15, 1791: "Went over the well known house of English near the neck gate. The cellars are completely finished. The stone wall is built of as large stones as are now in use, which contradicts the opinion that they generally built of small stones of choice, at that age. There is a hearth, very large oven, and all conveniences. The rooms are the largest in town. The floors are laid in plank and are sound at this day, the sweep of the hearth where they are worn down having a curious appearance. The upper parts of the house, among the peaks have curious partitions and very much room. Even the cellars are plastered."*

Doctor Bentley wrote in 1793, of this house, as follows: "The mansion house now standing and most completely finished for the times, having cellars, stoned at bottom, lathed and plastered overhead upon the floors above, divided for all purposes, finished with fireplaces and ovens laid in lime, floors which are good now after one hundred years, pantries, counting house, shops, and various apartments, halls, was more splendid in that day. Two gable ends in the west part, and another in the east have been taken down, a plank floor was laid upon the top, and an entire balustrade around it, extending to the peaks, upon which were erected ornaments rising two feet. At the southern door was an open fence, with a gate and knocker. Over the shop door was a balcony with seats, and a door communicating with the southern chamber, and the dial was over the door."†

John Collins House. This lot belonged to Francis Collins in 1658, when a house stood upon the lot. Mr. Collins was a carpenter, and lived in this house (perhaps from 1637). He died in 1689, having devised this estate to his wife Hannah for her life, and then to his son John Collins of Salem, mariner. John Collins died in 1734, possessed of the house and lot; and his administrator, for sixty pounds, conveyed the property to John Touzell of Salem, mariner, Dec. 30, 1734.‡ Mr. Touzell died before May 30, 1754, when his daughter, Mary, wife of William Hathorne of Salem, mariner, and widow Susanna Hathorne of Salem, conveyed the house and lot to their brother John Touzell of Salem, goldsmith.§ How long the house stood after this date is unknown, but Mr. Touzell probably took it down very soon after his purchase of the estate.

Robert Bray Lot. This lot was a part of the land of Francis Collins in 1658. He was a carpenter, and died in 1689, having devised this land to his wife Hannah for her life and then to his son John Collins of Salem, mariner. John Collins conveyed the lot, for five pounds, to his brother-in-law Robert Bray of Salem, mariner, Feb. 27, 1689-90.* Mr. Bray owned the lot for several years after 1700.

John and Hannah Browne House. This was a part of the lot of Francis Collins, and was owned by him as early as 1658. The selectmen voted, 5 : 10 mo : 1670, that "franc Collince haue liberty to fell twenty trees for to build his son Jno Brown to build a house," etc. The house was built upon this lot, and Mr. Collins conveyed the land and house to his daughter Hannah and her husband John Brown of Salem, mariner, Dec. 7, 1680.† A cartway over Mr. Collins’ land by the north end of his house to the street was also given in the deed. Mr. and Mrs. Brown died before Nov. 22, 1728, when their children, William Browne, mariner, Samuel Lambert, shoreman, and his wife Margaret, and widow Hannah Bray, all of Salem, for ninety-nine pounds, conveyed their interest in the estate to their brother Joseph Browne of Salem, mariner.‡ John Browne had died some years before, probably, as Mrs. Brown was then the widow Cubbert. Mr. Browne apparently moved the house forward nearer the street, and died, possessed of the same in 1756. The house was then called "an old house." It was standing in 1760, but gone in 1763.

Estate of Andrew Woodbury House. Andrew Woodbury of Salem, mariner, conveyed the northwestern part of this lot, down to the dashes, for eight pounds, to David Corwithy of Salem July 2, 1658.§ This was probably only a mortgage, as Mr. Woodbury continued to own the lot. He also conveyed the remainder of the lot to David Corwithy, sr., of Boston, gentleman, before Sept. 15, 1664, when Mr. Corwithy, for twenty-five pounds, conveyed it to Mr. Woodbury and Isaac Woodbury of Salem, mariner.* Isaac Woodbury conveyed his interest in the rear part of the lot, probably. Apparently Mr. Woodbury built a small house upon the lot about 1659. He died in 1685, possessed of the house and lot, which were then valued at one hundred pounds. The house and lot remained in the possession of his widow as late as 1708, when she was old and in extreme poverty. She died and the house disappeared before 1727.

John Higginson House, and Estate of Robert Bray, and William Curtis Lots. Roger Conant originally owned all the land between the way to the neck and Collins cove. It was next the property of Thomas Tuck, who conveyed it to Francis Collins of Salem, carpenter, 28 : 10 : 1659. For four pounds, Mr. Collins conveyed it to John Mason of Salem, brick maker, Nov. 1, 1660.† For six pounds, Mr. Mason conveyed to John Tapley, Robert Bray, and John Webb, all of Salem, fishermen, that part of his lot shown on the map as the lots of Estate of Robert Bray and William Curtis and that part of the lot of John Higginson lying west of the dashes, June 28, 1669.‡ Mr. Mason retained that part of the John Higginson lot lying east of the dashes, and probably conveyed it to John Tapley, on that date, conveyed the whole lot, with "my dwelling house," which had probably been erected by Mr. Mason, to John Higginson, jr., of Salem, merchant.§ Mr. Higginson, for eighteen pounds, conveyed the house and lot to William Curtis, jr., of Salem, blacksmith, June 11, 1705.‖ Mr. Curtis conveyed the lot to Joshua Ward of Salem, tanner, April 4, 1728,* the house being gone. John Webb conveyed his part of the lot, for forty-five shillings, to James Froude of Salem, mariner, Nov. 18, 1671.† Mr. Froude died before May 29, 1695, when his heir(?), Ann, wife of George Bonfield of Marblehead, husbandman, and her husband conveyed the lot to William Curtis, jr., of Salem, blacksmith.‡ Robert Bray probably died possessed of his lot before 1695, when Margaret Wilkins owned the eastern part of the lot at least, and continued to own it until 1728.

BODWELL GENEALOGY.

Henry Bodwell,§ the progenitor of the Bodwell family in Essex county, was born about 1651, and lived in Newbury in 1675. He was a member of Capt. Thomas Lathrop’s company in King Philip’s war, and was severely wounded at the battle of Bloody brook, Sept. 18, 1675. He was a yeoman, and married Miss Bethiah Emery of Newbury May 4, 1681. He lived in Newbury until 1683, when he moved to Andover, where he lived until about 1693, when he removed across the Merrimack river to what was then a part of Haverhill, and which was incorporated as Methuen in 1725. Mr. Albert E. Bodwell of Melrose, the family genealogist, writes that the first house in which Henry Bodwell lived on the Haverhill side of the Merrimack river was built of logs, and stood in the fork formed by the junction of the Merrimack and Spickett rivers. It was erected in the summer of 1693. The estate included a tract of two hundred acres of land, bounded by the Spickett river on the north and east, the Merrimack river on the south, and on the west by a line extending north and south between the two rivers about where Lawrence street is now. The south part of the present building, at the corner of East Haverhill and Elm streets, in that part of Methuen which was incorporated as Lawrence in 1852, was built, about 1708, by Henry Bodwell, upon the site of the log house. The new house was subsequently removed to its present location, and two additions were built on to it for the children as they married. After Mr. Bodwell’s death, the estate passed to his son, Henry Bodwell, and then to the latter's son, Henry Bodwell. It then went to Joseph Bodwell, father of the late Gov. Joseph R. Bodwell, who was also born in this house. The family tradition is that the fine old elm which stands in front of the house was planted on the morning of July 26, 1729, when Henry Bodwell was born, by an Indian, who was rewarded for his services with a gallon of rum. Mrs. Bodwell was living in 1726; and Mr. Bodwell died June 1, 1745, in his ninety-fourth year.

*The following epitaph is engraved upon his gravestone at Methuen:—

Stranger or friend, here stay thy lonely head, And here your Holiest tears sincerely shed For him, 'neath this silent mound doth sleep His manly, yes, his generous soul to weep. His spirit pure, white yet it dwelt below, Did oft feel so keenly others woe. His life, tho' short, still 'twas a stormy way, And darkening clouds hung o'er his brightest day— But in his heart mild virtue held her throne, Above the storm her rays serenely shone, I kissed his pathway to the tomb, Where weeping friendship mourns his early doom.

452. What was the “telegraph” system that existed along the Atlantic coast here about a century ago? What is its history, and what was the method employed to convey intelligence? Were flags used?

ANSWERS.

452. The only Mary Bowley in Essex county to marry Aquila Chase or anyone else about 1739 was Mary, daughter of John and Hannah (Hadlock) Bowley, born in Newbury Dec. 13, 1719. Her parents were both of Newbury when they were published, March 21, 1718-9.—Ed.

438. The word “newel” as applied to posts supporting balusters and baluster rails comes from the post which supported the stairs, etc., and stood in the centre of the stair case, the stairs turning around it. The word has been used in this connection for some five hundred years, originally in France. The words “newel” and “nucleus” are similar, their original meaning being the centre or central support. Many use the word “newel” as denoting the spirally carved posts supporting the baluster rails, and also to similarly carved balusters. The spiral posts and balusters have been constructed in many of the best houses in New England from about 1680 to about 1800. They were made by hand, and required skill and great care in their production. —Ed.

PISCATAQUA PIONEERS.

In connection with old Norfolk county, a new society, called the Piscataqua Pioneers, has been formed. Its object is to secure and preserve the records of the Piscataqua River pioneers, and the association of their descendants. The president is Hon. Moses
A. Safford of Kittery, and the secretary, Albert H. Lamson of Elkins, N. H.

EDITORIAL.

This number completes volume nine of The Essex Antiquarian. There have been published during the year the wills proved in Essex county in 1661; the gravestone inscriptions in the city of Gloucester before 1800; the genealogy of Essex county families from Blanchard to Bond inclusive; the record of the Essex county Revolutionary soldiers and sailors from Bickford to Boardman; abstracts of the old Norfolk county records, 1671; Salem quarterly court records and files, 1656 and 1657; Ipswich court records and files, 1650 and 1651; and miscellaneous genealogical notes from the records from Berry to Blackleach.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

INDEX TO THE ESSEX INSTITUTE HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS: VOLUMES I-XL. By George Francis Dow. Salem, Mass., 1905. This is a complete subject-index to the Collections down to 1905. It contains authors, subjects and titles. Bound in cloth; 91 pages; octavo; price, $1.00. Address the Essex Institute, Salem, Mass.

A RECORD OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SIMON HENRY (1766-1854) AND RHODA PARSONS (1774-1847) HIS WIFE. By Frederick A. Henry, A. M., Cleveland, O., 1905. This is a well and closely printed book of sixty-five octavo pages: and is a contribution towards a genealogy of the descendants of Serg. John Henry, who lived in Topsfield, Mass., in 1690. Judge Henry has made in this book a valuable addition to family histories. It contains not only the descendants but the ancestors of Simon Henry, a native of Lebanon, Conn., and some account of collateral lines. Half-tone portraits of himself and his children and others, and several other engravings are given. The price is $3.15 by mail, and may be ordered of the printer, J. B. Savage, or of the author, 154 Kensington street, Cleveland, O.

THE OLD FAMILIES OF SALISBURY AND AMESBURY, MASSACHUSETTS. By David W. Hoyt. Providence, R. I., 1905. This is part eleven (part six of volume two) of Mr. Hoyt's work on the genealogies of the early residents of Salisbury and Amesbury, with some related families of adjoining towns and of York county in Maine. This number contains genealogies of the families of Morrill, Mussey, Peasley, Wells and others. It contains seventy-two pages, including indexes. The price in paper covers is $1.00 to purchasers of other parts; to others it is $1.25. This concludes the set of numbers that Mr. Hoyt intends to issue, as the returns from their sale has been insufficient to meet the expense of their publication. It is hoped that he will continue his work, though it may appear in another form.

GENEALOGY OF THE DESCENDANTS OF JOHN WHITE OF WENHAM AND LANCASTER, MASSACHUSETTS, 1638-1905. Vol. III. By Almira Larkin White. Haverhill, Mass., 1905. This is the last of the three volumes of White history written by Miss White. It has taken a score of years of assiduous labor on her part to produce three large volumes, which contain in the aggregate two thousand, six hundred and ten pages, and one hundred and forty full-page illustrations. Each volume is well printed on good paper, fully indexed and bound in cloth. This one contains seven hundred and fifty-five pages, and forty-two full-page engravings, consisting of homesteads, portraits, groups, places, etc. The index to this volume comprises ninety-three pages. Until Jan. 1, 1906, the price of each will be five dollars, and after that date the price will be seven dollars per volume or twenty dollars for the set. Address the author, Miss Myra L. White, 98 Emerson street, Haverhill, Mass.
